

BERLIN.—You can fly all over Europe now, at a price little higher than first-class railway fares plus sleeper, and at a great saving of time and nuisance. The writer, who had flown before and knew he was proof against "air sickness," was considering the long fifteen-hour flight from Berlin to Moscow, but it seemed desirable first to try out the young lady of the party by the shorter flight from Brussels to Berlin, which does in five hours what the train does in eighteen. The result of the experiment is that we go to Moscow by train.

FROM Brussels to Cologne we came in one of the great British cross-channel planes, well known to so many Americans by the trip from London to Paris. They are tremendous biplanes, with separate chairs for ten passengers and room for a huge stack of luggage in the glazed compartment. One woman had a new leather aeronautic costume, with hood, ear muffs and goggles, and insisted on paying air rates per pound for a big wardrobe trunk; but the rest were normal, in dress, conduct and cargo.

The flight, across Belgium and a corner of France, was over a country charming almost as an English landscape, with patchwork, garden-size fields, tiny villages a mile or two apart, stately chateaux with broad parks and planted groves. There was one strip of barren land, like an alkali streak in California. It was only when we noticed that all the houses in it were new that we realized that this was a part of no-man's land, still unclaimed from volcanic blasts of war.

Soon the smoky factories of the Ruhr, and then the spires of Cologne cathedral appeared, and we were landed on the Luft-Hansa Cologne flying field, where there was the German customs examination and lunch, before taking the new plane for Berlin.

FROM Brussels to Cologne, across French-speaking territory, the plane and the language of those who managed it had been English. But from Cologne to Berlin, across Germany, it was French, and in Russia it is German. Apparently the air slips everything one zone eastward.

Even the big Farman monoplane, for Berlin, seemed puny compared with the British cross-channel planes. We were packed seven in one compartment, where our German seatmate promptly added to the discomfort of the cold by becoming eruptively air-sick. The plane was both swifter and steadier than the British one, and seemed to the air-proof member of the party as comfortable as an automobile on a cold day over a moderately undulating road. However, the others were nearly all sick, though only the German was unable to contain himself. "Never again!" was the almost unanimous conclusion.

The flight was first across the close-packed Ruhr, where the writer knew very well, having gone over it in much detail two years before as the guest of the then French army of occupation. It was interesting to pick out the familiar spots from the unfamiliar direction of the air, including even the hill-top castle of Frau Bertha Krupp von Bohlen (after he had also visited on a later trip under German auspices). The impression gained on the ground was confirmed from the air, that these Ruhr towns and cities almost touch each other.

Then across the agricultural Rhineland, of tiny fields, planted groves, small villages, and some of that rarity in Europe, individual farmhouses, on the farms themselves. Then into the great Prussian plain, with broader fields, fewer trees and larger villages farther apart. Finally into North Prussia, with still larger fields, barker of trees but interspersed with artificial forests of straight-rows of pine, replacing the natural forests cut down in the same places. Then the familiar Berlin, where the writer, in his youth, had lived for years as a student.

The sensation of swift flying is one of extreme slowness. It is only when you parallel a railroad track and leave fast trains behind like an automobile passing a horse-drawn cart, that you realize your speed.

THE harvest was on, in both France and Germany, and in a startling number of cases was being done with American labor-saving machinery. These tiny patchwork fields, green, yellow and brown, were originally subdivided under the conditions of the old hand culture, but machinery is evidently now economical even in them. There were small teams mowing and raking machines harvesting wheat and hay fields as wide as a street and as long as a city block. In many, of course, rows of men and women were still mowing, reaping, tossing and piling by hand in the pre-war way, but in more, American machinery was doing the work of a hundred men.

So the flight ended in Berlin, and the verdict of the air-sick was, "Never again!"

MEXICAN REVOLT PLOT EXPOSED

Calles Spurns Bishops' Plea for Peace

TRUCE OFFER BY CATHOLIC CHURCH FAILS

Mexican President Turns Down Episcopate Move For Tranquil Relations

REPLIES BY LETTER

Executive Courteous But Firm in Note to Mora y Del Rio and Bishop Diaz

(By United Press)
MEXICO CITY, Aug. 20.—President Calles, of Mexico, has definitely rejected the truce proposals advanced by the Catholic church and dispelled any hope on the part of the episcopate that the religious situation will be changed before the opening of congress, in September, if then.

Calles' letter, refusing to suspend the religious clauses of the constitution, was addressed to "Messrs. Mora y del Rio and Pascual Diaz, city," namely Archbishop Mora y del Rio and Bishop Diaz, of Toluca. It was courteous in tone, but firm in its rejection of the truce proposals.

"You have rightfully exercised your right of petition by applying to one of those able to initiate laws," President Calles wrote, "but I must sincerely tell you that I am the least fitted person to comply with said petition, as the constitutional articles contained are in perfect accordance with my philosophical and political conviction."

The president, however, pointed out that there were political and judicial resources open to the church.

Confesses All

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 20.—Carl Studer, one of three men arrested on liquor conspiracy charges arising from the Don R. Mellett murder investigation, was offered freedom on low bond here today, following a full confession of his part in Canton bootleg activities.

Originally set for $15,000, District Attorney A. E. Bernstein reduced the figure to $2500 because "Studer told us what we wanted to know." Friends of Studer predicted, however, that he would not take advantage of the offer, preferring the safety of Cuyahoga county jail to precarious freedom.

A number of Canton police officials, including a police court judge, were implicated in the bootleg ring blamed by authorities for Mellett's death.

PRETTY NURSE WINS FAVOR OF SCREEN SHEIK

Valentino Orders Bouquet Of Pink Roses Be Sent Brunette Beauty

(By United Press)
NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Rudolph Valentino, film actor, ill since Sunday after an operation for appendicitis and gastric ulcers, spent a restless night, but his condition was not alarming, it was said at the hospital today.

His temperature was nearly normal today and his general condition satisfactory.

Attending physicians discontinued issuing bulletins on the actor's condition.

Valentino had sufficiently recovered to direct that a huge bouquet of pink roses be sent to Miss Pearl Franks, the diminutive and evidently attractive brunette nurse, who attends him by day.

"He's just a big boy," Miss Franks commented on her patient. F. George Ullman, Valentino's personal manager, who sees him daily, said Miss Franks had given Valentino "motherly attention" and evidently she and the master of the screen were getting along finely, although Valentino proved to be a rather restless patient.

FACES DEATH FOR SLAYING OF DAUGHTER

Gaines, Convicted of Murdering Child, Nervously Paces Seattle Jail Cell

YIELDS UNDER STRAIN

Attorneys File Motions Asking for Arrest of Judgment and New Trial

(By United Press)
SEATTLE, Aug. 20.—Facing a death sentence for the murder of his daughter, Sylvia, Wallace C. Gaines restlessly paced his cell today, his nerves broken, while attorneys prepared an appeal to delay sentence.

Gaines was found guilty of first-degree murder last night by a jury, which deliberated four hours. The death penalty was recommended and counsel at once served notice of appeal.

Gaines began to give way under the strain of the trial during the state's argument.

"Well, it looks pretty good for me," said Gaines, as he was brought to the county-city building to hear his fate.

What a Body Blow!
His only comment when the jury's findings were read was: "What a body blow!"

SLAYER AND VICTIM

Upper—Sylvia Gaines, 22, Smith college student, who was murdered in Seattle, under mysterious circumstances.

Lower—Wallace C. Gaines, father of the slain girl, who was convicted by a jury last night in Seattle of first-degree murder. The jury recommended the death penalty for the man found guilty of filicide.

When the verdict was read, W. A. Gaines, chairman of the board of county commissioners, brother of the doomed man, crumpled up and was in a state of virtual collapse.

The defendant, in custody of two deputy sheriffs, walked firmly from the room. He was taken back to the county jail and placed in the cell he has occupied for nearly two months. His wife kissed him goodbye as he left the building.

First Ballot 10 to 2
On the first ballot, cast immediately after the jury retired, the vote was said to have been 10 to 2 for conviction with two of the three women jurors holding out. The second ballot was unanimous, it was said.

DE LA HUERTA LOCATED IN LOS ANGELES

Self-Styled Former President of Mexico Quizzed By U. S. Justice Agents

HE LAUGHS AT CHARGES

Denies Contributing Vast Sums for Promoting Rebellion Against Republic

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 20.—An attempt to incite mutiny among more than 100 prisoners held at the U. S. marine base here, in connection with the Gen. Enrique Estrada's abortive Mexican revolution, has been frustrated, guards at the base revealed today. As a result of the discovery of the unsuccessful mutiny, Carlos Lopez and Miguel Comaduran, alleged ringleaders, have been removed to the county jail.

Although the leaders in General Estrada's "army" will continue to be held at the county jail here, plans are under way to remove the prisoners to the marine base to jails in Imperial and Orange counties, pending trial, officials announced.

(By United Press)
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 20.—Questioned by federal investigators, Alfredo de la Huerta, self-styled former president of Mexico, denied here today that he had aided Gen. Enrique Estrada in his alleged plans for a new revolution in Mexico.

De la Huerta was found at his home here, after several days search by department of justice agents. He was quizzed by Lucien Wheeler, head of the department of justice, who revealed at the same time the "inside story" of the proposed "Mexican revolution."

"I had nothing to do with the revolution," De la Huerta told the United Press. "I did not contribute $100,000 to the cause of General Estrada, as charged."

Estrada Under Arrest
Estrada, said to have been aided from the chamber of deputies in Mexico City, was arrested Sunday with more than 150 of his followers and $40,000 worth of guns and ammunition.

De la Huerta declared that the present revolutionary plot had no connection whatever with the anti-Catholic situation in Mexico.

CONVENTION OF STATE LEGION IS ADJOURNED

Annual Wreck of 40 and 8 Follows Conclusion of Department Meet

(By United Press)
SUSANVILLE, Calif., Aug. 20.—The eighth annual department convention of the American Legion was adjourned today and the 2200 delegates, with the several hundred others who attended the auxiliary convention, were returning to their homes.

Adjournment came late yesterday, after Dr. John Slavich, Oakland, was elected department commander, to succeed Allen B. Bixby, and after Santa Barbara was selected as the 1927 convention city.

40 at 8 Holds Wreck
Close of the convention was followed by the colorful initiation, or annual wreck, of the Societe des Hommes et Chevaux, play organization of the legionnaires. Jack Huston, San Francisco, newly installed grand chef de gare, presided as the members marched through Susanville, dragging their "poor goods," or initiates, with a replica of the famed French box car at their head.

CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS THIS FALL WILL DECIDE CANDIDACY OF COOLIDGE

Republican favorites in the 1928 presidential sweepstakes. Reading across, Speaker Longworth, of whom the president is afraid; Coolidge himself, who will be played to win if he enters the race; Frank Lowden, farmers' hero; Herbert Hoover, Coolidge's second choice; William Borah, progressives' hope.

HOTEL LEASE PURCHASED BY ILLINOIS MEN

Sale of the lease and furnishings of the Rossmore hotel by M. J. Cahill to R. C. Pearce and Ben Wolters, of Rockford, Ill., for a reported consideration of $19,000, was learned today. The building itself is not involved in the sale. The property is owned by the French estate.

The new lessees will take possession September 1. They are securing an eight and a half year lease. Cahill has operated the establishment for the last five years.

The new lessees are experienced hotel men, it is understood. They are in Los Angeles at present.

Cahill expects to leave Santa Ana shortly after the first of the month. His plans for the future are not definite, he said today.

The Rossmore has 75 rooms. The deal now is in escrow in the Orange County Trust and Savings bank.

President's Fate Depends On Progressive Move- ment's Outcome

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Whether or not President Coolidge is a candidate for renomination in 1928 depends on the coming congressional elections.

If the administration is vindicated at the polls next November—that is, if a majority of the Coolidge kind of Republicans are elected to the next senate and lower house—he can be renominated by wanting to be, and nobody doubts that he will.

If the Democrats and insurgent Republicans—a strong wave of insurgency in his own party will be worse for him than some Democratic gains—get even the senate, to say nothing of the house, away from him, it will be a pretty convincing sign that the country has turned him down.

In that event, it will be doubtful if he can be renominated, no matter how hard he tries, and the probabilities are he will say he prefers not to be a candidate again.

Political Washington assumes that President Coolidge, if eliminated himself, will try to throw the nomination to Secretary of Commerce Hoover. Hoover will hardly be much more satisfactory to Republican insurgency than Coolidge is.

Still, a retiring president, even though he retires against his will, is in a position to be very helpful to his choice of a successor. In such a situation in 1928, Hoover's chances will depend on how strong Republican progressivism is then.

If the progressive group in the party makes a formidable showing in the fall, Senator William E. Borah's presidential prospects will immediately improve. Without regarding Borah as a particularly safe bet yet, Washington's impression is that he may develop into one on short notice almost any time.

As a farmers' candidate, Frank O. Lowden is spoken of here as the likeliest selection. Should the corn belt prove, in November, to be in a frame of mind which absolutely demands placation it is believed here that Lowden will be quite a likely choice.

Vice President Dawes and Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana, are receptive farm candidates, too, but Dawes' chances are not considered as good as Lowden's and Watson's are not deemed nearly as good.

Reports are coming from New York that ex-secretary of State Hughes would like to have the presidential lightning strike him again. Washington politicians can see no especial reason why he should be nominated again but have hardly had time, since rumors of his candidacy began reaching here, to size up his prospects.

Senator Wadsworth, also of New York, evidently thinks well of himself as a candidate. At present nobody speaks of him as more than an extremely remote possibility, but a brilliant victory in his campaign for re-election to the upper house of congress this year may bring him more to the front. Beaten, as he may be, he will sink entirely out of sight at once.

Speaker Longworth is not considered very seriously, despite his endorsement by ex-President Private Secretary Siemp. At the same time, it is recognized that he has in his wife a political manager of the very highest order.

Assistant Secretary of War McNider has a considerable following for 1928 and occasionally one hears his name mentioned in connection with 1928.

Governor Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, undoubtedly had the presidency in mind when he sought the Republican nomination for the senate from the Keystone state, but of course is completely out of the running now.

Six months ago 1928 Republican presidential talk was of President Coolidge almost exclusively. A good many candidates are under discussion today.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION VOICED AT PRESS MEET

GENEVA, Aug. 20.—A sharp difference of opinion between American press associations in respect to the theory of "property rights in news" was demonstrated today at the second session of the press association conference here, under the auspices of the League of Nations, with 16 leading press associations of the world participating.

After introduction of a resolution by Elmer Roberts, representing the Associated Press, favoring international action giving legal sanction to the theory, the practice of certain European and Asiatic governments of attempting to give preferential treatment in regard to governmental announcements to agencies organized and supported by these governments to distribute governmental propaganda was attacked by the delegates representing the independent groups of press associations.

Opposed to Recognition
Speeches were made by delegates representing Nippon Denpo Teshushan Sha, of Japan, and the Telegraph union, of Germany, opposing any international recognition of the theory until news in all countries had been freed from governmental control.

"In the United States," said Roy W. Howard, representing the United Press, "the United Press and the Associated Press recognize the principle because in the United States all news is free and not subject to any character of governmental control. Governmental news is public property. A news agency with a keen respect for its obligations to its clientele in delivering truthful and accurate word pictures of the day's events cannot accept any proposition, national or international in its scope, relative to the property right in news that does not recognize this public quality of all official and governmental news and the perfect equality of all agencies in receiving and distributing the same."

Lower Rates Sought
H. Okawa, representing Nippon Denpo Teshushan Sha, said the press of Japan insisted that all official and governmental news should be relieved of any sort of governmental control or direction and that it be made the public property of all agencies. Okawa then submitted a proposition from the newspapers of Japan calling for the immediate establishment of lower cable and radio press rates to Japan.

After a morning of discussion of property rights in news, the press commission appointed a drafting committee, composed of Robert Ludia, of the Swiss agency, and Howard to prepare the text of a resolution establishing property rights in the news but recognizing the public and exclusive character of unofficial government news.

Inquiry on Ship Collision Opens

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—Inquiry was instituted today to determine cause of the collision yesterday, outside the Golden Gate, between the Union Oil tanker La Placenta and the freighter Eagle, of the Williams Steamship company.

The tanker was put in dry dock for repair of a 10-foot hole in its starboard bow. The Eagle was virtually undamaged and returned to port under its own power. No injuries were reported.

The La Placenta was coming from San Pedro to San Francisco. The Eagle was headed for Seattle with a general cargo.

Wants Husband's Body Disinterred

TULARE, Calif., Aug. 20.—An opinion was being prepared by City Attorney F. J. Held today, on the request of Mrs. Yvonne Chavez Ryan, widow of E. J. Ryan, wealthy druggist, that her husband's body be disinterred and examined to learn the real cause of his death. Ryan was reported to have died after taking poison. According to Mrs. Ryan, he suffered no convulsions before death and she believes his death should have been attributed to other causes. Ryan's will is being contested in superior court here.

They stopped the lad and asked him to surrender. He informed the officers he would not and casually placed his hand inside his shirt for a gun.

While the first two officers talked to the boy, someone informed the sheriff's office and Sheriff Sam Thomas and Deputy Charles Piusus came to the scene in an automobile.

Seeing the boy had his hand on the gun, both opened fire. They shot three times and all bullets took effect, one going through the lad's chest.

Preliminary examination by physicians brought the announcement that he would not live.

A large crowd gathered on the scene and police had to be dispatched immediately to keep the bystanders from attacking the two sheriffs.

YOUNG OFFICE IS ESTABLISHED IN SANTA ANA

Permanent headquarters for the C. C. Young-for-Governor campaign in Orange county will be established in the Helbush building, Fourth and Main streets, through the courtesy of H. H. Helbush, of Los Angeles, owner of the building. The information was conveyed to the Young campaign committee today by George Hubbard, manager of the building, upon instructions of Helbush.

A huge sign, to adorn the front of the headquarters, formerly occupied by the Besser trolley, has been ordered and will be put in position this afternoon or tomorrow morning. Literature favorable to Young's candidacy will be collected from several temporary headquarters and made available at the central location.

Helbush is strong for Young on the ground that the continued prosperity of Santa Ana, Orange county and Southern California depends upon the early construction of the Boulder canyon dam. He looks upon Young as the champion of the Boulder dam cause.

Hubbard, manager of the Helbush building, is adjutant of Calumet camp, No. 26, United Veterans of the Spanish war. The members of his organization are almost solidly for Young, he said, and their influence will be felt all over Orange county among the veterans of the war of 1898.

Until a telephone is installed in the central headquarters, the Young office can be reached through telephone number 2338. Hubbard will devote a great deal of his time to attending to the duties of the office and will be active in pushing Young's campaign until election day.

FLAGSHIP ARRIVES AT SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—The armored cruiser, Seattle, flagship of Adm. S. S. Robison, commander-in-chief of the U. S. fleet, steamed through the Golden Gate shortly after 7 a. m. today, as the vanguard of the great fleet of 70 vessels, carrying 30,000 men, that will be guests for 10 days in San Francisco's harbor.

The Seattle, according to schedule, was approximately four hours in advance of the other ships. Among the first of the others to arrive will be the U. S. S. California, flagship of the battle division, on which Curtis D. Wilbur, secretary of the navy, will be a passenger.

The fleet has steamed from Puget sound. After its visit in California waters, it will proceed to the Atlantic coast.

of deputies in Mexico City. He controlled the state of Tobasco, it was said, and was in charge of recruiting the new revolutionary army south of the border.

4. North of the border, according to Wheeler's information, Estrada, operating upon the funds which De la Huerta denies giving to the revolutionists, formed the army which was captured Sunday in San Diego.

Mexican secret service agents have informed Wheeler that Estrada's "army" was composed of "bums" and not representative Mexicans.

It is claimed by the Mexican operatives, however, that, at the little North Main street print shop, where the alleged insurgents met, nearly 3,000,000 Mexicans had sent pledges to join the movement once Lower California was captured.

Calles Warned of Plot
The Mexican secret service department here informed President Calles, on July 25, last, that a revolutionary army planned to cross the border on August 15, it was revealed.

De la Huerta, supposedly living in Paris, has been in seclusion at his Hollywood home for many months. It was learned, he denied that he had millions of dollars deposited in New York banks, as claimed by Calles.

He said he knew Estrada "very well" and was aware that the former Villa general was in Los Angeles.

"Estrada often visited me, but he never solicited me for funds," said De la Huerta.

Wheeler, in a secret report to Washington, D. C., asserted that De la Huerta was the financial backer of Estrada.

Will Sell War Supplies
Legal action to seize the $40,000 in guns and motor trucks, which Estrada planned to move across the border, was instituted today by Wheeler. It is to be sold under libel action on the steps of the federal building here.

Wheeler said his men would take precautions to prevent Los Angeles county run runners from buying the equipment.

De la Huerta declared he would fight any efforts of Calles to have him extradited.

"I love the United States and intend to remain here," he said.

UNABLE TO CONFIRM TROOP MOVEMENTS
EL PASO, Tex., Aug. 20.—Reports that Mexican troops were being sent to border cities by authorities fearing revolutionary outbreaks there could not be verified here today. There were 130 additional soldiers in the garrison at Juarez, but army officers denied that they were sent to strengthen the border forces. They said the troops were to participate in an Independence day celebration there September 16.

CALIFORNIA GIRL WINS
FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 20.—Miss Mary K. Browne, Santa Monica, Calif., defeated Miss Penelope Anderson, Richmond, Va., at Forest Hills today, 7-5, 6-1. Elizabeth Ryan, California, defeated Eleanor Goss, 3-6, 6-4, 6-0.

STOCKTON, Aug. 20.—Authorities admitted today that they were without a single definite clue to the stranger, who struck here Wednesday and then vanished without a semblance of trace to his identity, as was the case in four other strange deaths in California cities in the last six months.

A coroner's autopsy board, meeting yesterday, found that the local victim, Mrs. Isabel Gallegos, 76, had died from strangulation, but that she suffered no other form of assault.

The physicians also declared that death was due to the strangler's hands and not to the pillow slip which was found tied around the woman when her body was discovered in her home, Wednesday afternoon.

Life Terms in Pen Requested for Burglars
B. C. Baca and Epifanio Sals, convicted of first degree burglary, today were sentenced to Folsom by Superior Judge E. J. Marks and, if Judge Marks' recommendations are followed by the prison board, will spend the rest of their lives there.

Baca and Sals were found guilty by a jury of having entered the Olive garage, Olive where they stole a number of automobiles.

Antonio Villa, of Delhi, who was arrested with Sals and Baca, turned state's evidence and testified that he had been kidnapped by his companions and forced to accompany them on the excursion outside of the law.

Investigation of the two Mexicans, following their arrest, revealed that they previously have served in both San Quentin and Folsom prisons, besides other penitentiaries. In view of their record, Judge Marks has filed a recommendation with the state board of prison directors, which fixes the length of sentence, that Baca and Sals be considered as habitual criminals and that they receive life sentences.

A section of the statutes, it is said, provides that where defendants have been convicted of felonies twice and are found guilty a third time, they may be treated as habitual criminals and may be sentenced to prison "for the remainder of their natural lives." The ordinary sentence for first degree burglary is not less than five years.

SHORTRIDGE CAMPAIGN IN ORANGE COUNTY CONCLUDED WITH BIRCH PARK SPEECH

Bringing to a close an all-day speaking trip in Orange county, in the course of which he had earlier in the day visited Santa Ana and addressed the Lions club, at St. Ann's Inn, U. S. Senator Samuel M. Shortridge, heeding the Republican nomination for senator at the coming election, last night, at Birch park, following the band concert, made a final appeal to Orange county voters for their support at the primaries.

In bringing his campaign to Orange county, the junior senator took pains to point out that he was vitally interested in national issues and economic problems having a direct bearing upon the welfare and prosperity of this section of the state. The greater portion of his address was devoted to the Colorado river water and power project. He also dwelt at some length on tariff protection, emphasizing its importance to agriculture and industry in this county.

Defends World Court Action Touching upon the World court, he said:

"This nation is committed to a policy of peace, and to further that movement, the senate adopted a resolution recognizing the existence of a World court, with, however, reservations designed amply to protect the interests of American citizens. That is the policy of the policy of Calvin Coolidge and a plank in the Republican platform of 1924. In voting for adherence to the court, I was carrying out the mandate of California which, in 1924, gave Coolidge and his policies a majority of more than 200,000."

His address, in part, follows: "Twenty-six years ago, I addressed the citizens of Santa Ana on behalf of William McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt. The flag I raised then I have carried ever since. I lift the flag tonight, glad to be again in your beautiful city, proud to preach the gospel of Republicanism."

"I was not able to return to take part in the primary campaign until the adjournment of congress, which occurred July 3. Manifestly it was my duty to remain in Washington until the session closed, for there was legislation pending and proposed in which the nation and California in particular were vitally and directly interested and concerned."

Stands Upon Record
"Upon my life-long record, as a Republican and my devotion to and support of the principles and policies of the party of Abraham Lincoln and Calvin Coolidge, and upon my record in the senate, I respectfully ask the Republican voters of our state to nominate me as their candidate for United States senator. Six years ago, they conferred that great honor on me and the people at large approved of their choice by electing me to the office I now hold. I trust it will not be considered unseemly for me to say that I have earnestly striven to justify the confidence a great people reposed in me by working unceasingly for California."

"We are, indeed, one people, with one destiny. From Del Norte to Imperial, from Modoc to San Diego, our forty-eight counties, our four and a half million people, our fertile Southland and our rich Northland make up our great and splendid commonwealth. If again nominated and elected I shall continue to serve California, all of California, with undivided zeal and affection. I should regard myself unworthy of her confidence, disgruntled to speak and act for her if I should endeavor to advance the welfare of one city or county at the expense or to the neglect of any other city or county; if I should betray greater devotion for one city or county than for any other city or county."

Would Favor No Section
"We are all Californians. We are bound together by proud memories and high and patriotic purpose. Our development at home, our standing and influence in the nation depend upon cordial co-operation and united action. We are one state. Let no one seek to divide or estrange us. I shall continue to be, as I have been, a U. S. senator from and for California, one and inseparable. "As a member of the senate committee on finance, to which all tariff and revenue bills are referred, I shall continue to urge a reduction of federal taxes and I shall be on guard to protect the present tariff rates of duty on California products against any and all attempts of free-traders to reduce or repeal them. None of these rates is too high, some are too low. I here and now warn California that an aggressive assault is to be made on our protective tariff system and we must be prepared and ready to meet that assault; we must fight to keep what we have. I am a protectionist. Of all the states of the Union, California's prosperity rests and depends on adequate tariff duties. As I have in the past, so in the future, I shall defend and justify the Republican protective tariff system, with special reference to the products and industries of California."

Supports Boulder Dam
"As a member of the senate committee on irrigation and reclamation, I have co-operated and I shall continue to co-operate with my colleagues and urge and vote for the bill at the next session of congress authorizing and providing for the construction of a high dam at Boulder canyon for flood control, for the development of hydro-electric power, for an all-American canal for irrigation purposes, for preferential homestead rights for our soldiers, and for water and power from the Colorado river to and for Los Angeles and others of our coastal cities and communities for domestic and industrial uses."

"I think and believe that all conflict as to legal questions and all differences as to engineering problems have now been settled and harmonized and that the bill introduced in the senate by Senator Johnson and in the house by Congressman Swing, as amended, to carry out this great project in its entirety, so important to all our people, can and will be speedily enacted into law. The carrying out of this great project, which has the approval of President Coolidge and his advisers, will be of untold benefit to California—to present and future generations."

"As a member of the senate committee on naval affairs, I shall continue to give earnest thought to our naval establishments, with special attention to California harbors for our fleet, and I shall seek adequate appropriations for their proper im-

WHEELER FLAYS TINKHAM SLAP AT DRY LEAGUE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Representative George Holden Tinkham's demand for criminal prosecution of the Anti-Saloon league by Attorney General Sargent for alleged violation of the corrupt practices act was branded as "groundless" by Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the league.

"Congressman Tinkham has vainly tried for four years to get someone to take his alcoholic charges against the league seriously," declared Wheeler, adding: "Mr. Tinkham yells, 'Stop, thief!' to hide the corrupt, lawless activities of the wets who back him."

"The Anti-Saloon league has told the truth about its income and disbursements. If the wets were as frank, their budget would make the money spent by the league look like 30 cents."

"Only a small part of the league's income is spent for political purposes and the law does not require that money spent for other purposes be reported. We have been complying with the federal election laws longer than any other organization."

"In the meantime Tinkham will continue to think to detract public attention from his lawless supporters, who are shooting holes in the constitution in order to get a drink of poison liquor."

provement. Deep, well protected harbors are necessary for our grand fleet and essential for our commercial purposes. We are a peace-loving people and have no hostile designs against any nation on earth, but duty and prudence dictate that we observe the mandate of the constitution and "provide and maintain a navy" adequate to defend and protect the rights of the American citizens."

"I am a Republican. I have stood and stand on the Republican platform. I glory in the party's achievements. I believe in its principles. I support its policies. And I rejoice—I reverently thank God—that, under the Republican administration of Calvin Coolidge, we are at peace with the world and enjoying the greatest prosperity we have ever known."

Snake Restores Speech to Girl Mute Ten Years

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Aug. 20.—Miss Winnie Weisser, 22-year-old daughter of Edward Weisser, who lives on the Bethlehem pike, in Center valley, can speak after being mute for more than 10 years, according to her relatives.

And it was all due to a snake. Ten years ago, Miss Weisser lost her speech from fright. While walking home recently, she saw a snake. The sight of the reptile gave her such a shock, she told her father, that she yelled out, "A snake!" and from that time has been able to utter words almost as distinctly as though her vocal chords had never been affected.

about their diamonds as San Franciscans. The quality of diamonds brought to San Francisco is superior to the quality of those sold elsewhere throughout the world, he declared.

Pegasus Club Members Entertain Guests At Meeting

EGASUS club members varied their usual story program yesterday afternoon by presenting a series of papers on China at their guest meeting with Mrs. Bruce Switzer (Prudence Macomber) at her charming home, 2327 Benton Way.

Each member was accompanied by a guest and the group spent an enjoyable and valuable afternoon. The program was planned by two young matrons, Mrs. Charles Bond and Mrs. Clarence Bond, and offered original papers as follows: "Women of China," Mrs. Fannie Lash; "Flowers and Gardens," Mrs. W. E. Foote; "Sports," Mrs. Frank Lansdown; "Art and Literature," Mrs. G. W. Bond; "Hotels, Inns and Restaurants," Mrs. Ray Brown; "Clothes," Mrs. Charles Bond.

To vary the interesting program, the hostess played a beautiful piano number, Moszkowski's "Guitar."

During the pleasant social interval which followed the program, Mrs. Switzer, assisted by the senior Mrs. Switzer, served very dainty refreshments.

Pegasus folk present included in addition to Mrs. Bruce Switzer, the hostess, G. W. Bond, W. E. Bond, Fannie Lash, Ray Brown, Frank Lansdown, Charles Bond, Clarence Bond, A. C. Zaiser and W. E. Foote, while their guests were Mrs. T. A. Switzer, Mrs. Earl L. Morris, Mrs. F. W. Wagner, Mrs. R. R. Caldwell, Mrs. Charles C. Brisco, Miss Mary Roehl of Albuquerque, N. Mex., house guest of Mrs. Charles Bond, and Miss Helen Peall of Geneva, New York, house guest of Mrs. Foote.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

St. Joseph's Altar
St. Joseph's Altar society was very pleasantly entertained Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Marie Leiberman, 612 French street. The co-hostesses were Mrs. Clyde Ashen and Mrs. Francis Shoen.

The spacious living rooms of the Leiberman home were prettily decorated with roses and other summer blooms. A brief business session was held, with Mrs. Ashen, the president, presiding. Mrs. George W. Young will provide programs at meetings for the next two months, assisted by members of her section.

The section of which Mrs. L. M. Banks is chairman, will have a cooked food sale at Blauer's grocery next Saturday.

At the close of the meeting, the hostesses served refreshments of ice cream and home-made cakes.

The next meeting will be held on September 15 at Knights of Columbus hall with Mrs. Charles Schmiedeburg, Mrs. Ella Naylor and Miss Katie Anselmino, hostesses.

M. E. Missionary
The Woman's Missionary auxiliaries of the First Methodist Episcopal church, extended an invitation to their friends to attend the regular Foreign Missionary meeting, Wednesday afternoon, and later in the day to listen to a very forceful address by Judge W. H. Thomas.

The quiet hour was led by Mrs. W. L. Miller, who took as her subject "Beside the Syrian Sea." In word pictures she portrayed the surroundings of the beautiful health-giving sea, which later pours itself into the Dead Sea, which she compared to the people who receive many good things but never give of their bounty.

"Memories of Galilee," an appropriate musical number was rendered by Mrs. Laura McCormac and Mrs. Leonard accompanied by Mrs. W. B. Snow.

The president, Mrs. Horton Palmer, announced two important parties, the Little Light Bearers party, August 26, and the mite box opening under the direction of Mrs. W. R. Freeman, September 15.

Mrs. Laura Brandebury told of the four special pieces of work carried on by this auxiliary. A poem by James W. Foley with music by Charles Wakefield Cadman was given by Mr. Hughes accompanied by Mrs. Hughes at the piano, and was very much enjoyed and appreciated.

Mrs. W. B. Snow, president of the Women's Home Missionary society, presented Judge Thomas who had been asked to speak on the subject, "Are We a Nation of Chinamen?" He quoted Edison who said "Take the Sermon on the Mount out of the moth balls and put it to work solving the world's problems."

"God-fearing, liberty-loving citizens are an asset to any country and cost the least to the tax payers. Frequently it comes to pass that unjust, unfair and harmful laws are enacted; and citizens with more than usual spiritual and ethical insight are often confronted with the pressing problem of their attitude toward such human government as well as human laws are never fully righteous. It often happens that the need for changing such laws forces itself upon the minds of men and women, and they are changed. We hear a great deal these days about the crime wave and it would seem that there is evidence to support the charge.

According to Judge Talley of the Court of General Sessions of New York, the most desperate criminals coming before the court are mere boys, and the vast majority of the defendants in that court are under the age of 20 years. Another authority says that 82 per cent of all crime is committed after school hours or during the boy's spare time.

The world is going through a stage of intellectual transition. A generation ago people were honest through emotion. A generation from now people may be honest through intelligence. Those who are not favorable to prohibition say that the cause

Two Charming Brides Will Speak Vows at Same Service

ITH the issuing of invitations by Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Mahaffey, 1027 South Main street, to the wedding of their daughter, Miss Velma Lee Mahaffey, to John Russell Myers on the night of August 27, in the Spurgeon Memorial church, plans for a double wedding of well-known young people were disclosed.

For two pretty brides, Miss Mahaffey and Miss Grace Ozment, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Ozment, 1213 North Ross street, will go to the marriage altar together, and together will speak their wedding vows to their respective bridegrooms, Mr. Myers and Mr. Orville Taylor.

Invitations to the Ozment-Taylor wedding were issued over a week ago, and friends little suspected that they were so soon to be followed by those of the Mahaffey-Myers nuptials.

Elaborate plans are being made for the double ceremony by the two brides, each of whom will have their own retinue of attendants, the whole to form a beautiful pageant at 8:30 o'clock.

Miss Mahaffey is a graduate of polytechnic high school with the class of 1924. In that same year, Mr. Myers, also a Santa Ana alumnus and the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Myers, 1248 Van Ness avenue, completed his course at the junior college and is now studying law at University of Southern California. After their wedding the young people will make their home in Los Angeles while he completes his law course.

Mrs. Florence Hicks, 526 South Parton street, is spending several days with relatives in Los Angeles. She was accompanied by Mrs. A. D. Gorton, 1127 West Highland street who will visit friends and relatives in Los Angeles and Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Stumpf have returned from a three-months' stay in Mesa, Arizona, where Mr. Stumpf was connected with an orchestra.

Miss Helen Peall of Geneva, N. Y., arrived last Saturday to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Foote in their pretty new home at 615 East Myrtle street. Miss Peall came down the coast from the north where she had visited friends and relatives in Seattle, Wash., and Salem, Ore.

The visitors motored through and are very much attracted to Santa Ana and contemplating locating here.

of nearly all crime can be traced to prohibition. The wets tell us that prohibition is a failure. Which prohibition? We have prohibition against murder, theft, forgery, embezzlement, against stock frauds, burglary, holdups and bank robberies, and every one of these prohibitions are broken. Should these laws be torn from the constitution because they are broken occasionally?

It is not modification of the Volstead act they want the nullification of the constitution. Instead of non-intoxicating liquor within the constitution, the demand now is for intoxicating liquor in defiance of the constitution.

The Volstead act simply takes the stand set up by the U. S. government many years before it ever thought of prohibition as a national proposition and at the insistence of the liquor men themselves.

To permit the manufacture of light wines and beer at this time, would be to take the eighteenth amendment out of the constitution of the United States. If other amendments which were not well enforced during their first ten years had been modified we would have had a modified slavery, a modified democracy at the polls today.

Unless respect for law finds its ultimate motive in reverence for God it will not stand the test in severe temptation to evade the law because of personal interest. Whenever there is an epidemic of lawlessness, it is associated with the epidemic of Godlessness, a wide disregard for God.

Gas Company Presents Dancing Party in New Quarters

A unique party was given Wednesday night by the Southern Counties Gas company in honor of the opening of their new plant on East First street. Besides the employees and their families and friends, many others from Santa Ana and Los Angeles were invited.

The rooms were profusely decorated with dahlias and summer flowers, while in the center of the large dancing room, a big American flag was draped from the ceiling. Music was furnished by Chapman's orchestra. Throughout the evening, punch was served by members of the Santa Ana staff, together with ice cream and cake.

A hot-dog stand was in one corner of the room where all who desired heartier refreshments might fortify themselves for a strenuous evening of dancing and fun.

Side shows, a kangaroo court and fortune telling furnished much merrier for the dancers as well as the onlookers.

E. C. Rutledge, district manager, and Johnnie Ott, district superintendent, had charge of the evening's entertainment, and displayed their ability to provide fun for their guests, who numbered between three and four hundred. Santa Barbara and Ventura were the only towns not represented. Monrovia, San Pedro, Pomona, Santa Monica and all of the other cities in which the Southern Counties Gas company is located, sending representatives.

From San Francisco they will go on to spend the remainder of their time at the Keeler summer home on the Russian river, expecting to return to take up their school work with the opening of Polytechnic high school. Both will be members of the 1927 graduating class.

JUSTICE CONDUCTS 'SPEEDERS' COURT

For the first time in several weeks "speeders' court" was conducted today by Justice Kenneth Morrison without one motorist being sentenced to jail. This was explained by the fact that those drivers arrested for speeding 50 miles an hour or faster and who were scheduled to appear today, did not appear.

Fines in justice court were as follows: Fred W. Stevenson, San Diego, speeding, $20; Rhal Foust, 823 South Main street, Santa Ana, passing on curve, $5; Arthur J. Fitzgerald, Los Angeles, speeding, $25; Mrs. Charles R. Old, Orange, cutting in, $5; Sam H. Grunblott, South Gate, cutting in, $25; H. M. Otis, Los Angeles, speeding, $25; H. IDENTIFY BODY AS THAT OF S. A. MAN

Positive identification of the body, found Tuesday high in the hills above Forest Home, as that of A. S. Cleary, who disappeared from the resort on Aug. 28, 1924, was made yesterday by Charles A. and John Cleary, of Santa Ana, sons of Cleary.

Accompanied by Deputy Coroner Emmett Waters, the two sons climbed 1500 feet above Forest Home and exhumed the body, it having been buried Wednesday beneath a pile of rocks. By the clothing, the sons were able to state positively that the body was that of their father, whom they had long believed dead. The size of the skeleton also corresponded to Cleary's height, the sons said.

Cleary, 68 years old, left the resort early in the morning of Aug. 28, 1924, leaving word that he was going on a hike. He had previously suffered a stroke of paralysis and was in the mountains for his health. The sons conducted a wide search in the mountains for their missing father, continuing their hunt for weeks before abandoning it.

Cleary apparently fell or died from exhaustion while attempting to cross a rock slide on the mountainside.

WINS FATHER'S RELEASE

When Silvestre Terrazas, editor of a Chihuahua (Mexico) newspaper, was arrested, charged with sedition for his editorials on the religious troubles in that country, his daughter, Senorita Irene Terrazas, of El Paso, Tex., busied herself at once to gain his release. Accordingly, he was let out of jail after several days' imprisonment. Sedition in Mexico may be punished by death. Father and daughter are shown

MORNING-EVENING PAPERS MERGE AT VENTURA

(Long Beach Press-Telegram)

A notable merging of journals has taken place in the Ventura county newspaper field, by which the Morning Post and the Star are consolidated into one paper, to be printed in the afternoon. The merger is attracting considerable attention.

It is hailed as a sound stroke of policy, on the part of the owners and publishers of the two journals that have become one, and also a wise and beneficial move for the community served by the merged papers.

The consolidation will make possible a bigger and better newspaper than could possibly have been issued with two journals serving the same field and duplicating their efforts.

It has been demonstrated, time after time—particularly in recent years—that consolidations of newspapers lead to journalistic improvements—to better service in news, and miscellany, and in contents in general. The elimination of duplication in news, advertising, circulation and other features of newspaper publication clears the way for a higher class newspaper, meeting the public's needs and expectations, in success and service.

This is an utilitarian age.

Newspapers are basically business institutions. They must succeed in business to give the excellence of service that an intelligent, discriminating public requires. It stands to reason, therefore, that the fewer the number of papers the higher the quality, generally speaking.

Governor to Be Banquet Guest

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 20.—Gov.
Friend W. Richardson will be guest of honor at a banquet of Southern California newspaper editors and publishers, at the Alexandria hotel, here, tonight.

Arrangements for the banquet are in charge of Justus Craemer, of the Orange Daily News, and chairman of the newspapermen's committee which is boosting the governor's campaign for re-election.

Governor Richardson and a number of the editors are scheduled to make brief addresses.

In a speech to the W. C. T. U.
here last night, the governor stressed the law and order, and economy policies of his administration. "During my administration, the surplus has been raised from zero to $10,000,000," he said.

VAST REVISION IN PUBLIC LAND LAWS IS URGED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—

Sweeping revision of the public land laws will be sought at the next session of congress to end a "growing feeling of discontent throughout the west" with present statutes,
Secretary of the Interior Hubert Work said today. Problems involved in the administration of the leasing act, withdrawing lands for settlement and development have caused great discontent, Work told the United Press.

The department has studied the complaints and, after a conference in Denver, September 20, a definite legislative program will be proposed to remedy the situation.
Work expects to give some indication of the department's new plans at the Denver conference.

The government has 180,000,000 acres of land subject to statutes enacted more than 50 years ago and also to recent legislation affecting leasing and withdrawal of lands for development or other purposes.

The withdrawals under existing legislation present one of the biggest problems, according to Work.
"Withdrawals urged for forest preserves and mineral development are becoming alarming," he said.
"If allowed to go on, the taxable lands of states will be sequestered to an unwarranted degree."

"Fourteen bills have been presented for a change, but no two measures agree. Several of the bills would result in crippling both mining and reclamation in the west."

Specially intended for use in bottles containing poison, a cork with a metal top, which has four sharp projecting points, has recently been designed.

The discovery of a new alloy steel capable of withstanding higher temperatures than steel has ever withstood was announced at Sheffield by Sir Robert Hadfield, who was the inventor of manganese steel.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 20.—The

Under the new plan, division chiefs in charge of outside or branch

by zone deputy collectors.

Glenn H. Welch, collector of internal revenue for Southern California, conceived the plan, which met with approval of the Washington revenue chiefs today.

The 10 counties in Southern California make up the new revenue district. Zone offices will be maintained in Pasadena, Santa Ana, San Diego, San Luis Obispo, Bakersfield, tro, San Bernardino and Riverside.

Court Notes

Wife Seeks Divorce

Mrs. Hazel M. Taylor, whose husband, Homer F. Taylor, is serving a term in San Quentin for check kiting, today sought a divorce in superior court, where her petition was filed by Attorney Kenneth H.
Burns. The Taylors were married in Santa Ana May 18, 1924, and separated in November, 1925. On December 11, Taylor was sentenced to prison. His conviction of a felony forms the basis of the pla for divorce.

Probation Is Granted

George Churchill today was granted probation by Superior Judge Z. B. West, who conducted a hearing in connection with Churchill's plea of guilty to a charge of forgery. Pronouncement of judgment was suspended for a period of five years. Churchill had admitted forging the name of H. D.

Wright to a check for $10, which was passed to J. H. Lewis.

Seek to Foreclose

Ruth A. Winters was plaintiff in one suit and Martin Christenson filed two others in superior court today against Walter N. Powers and others, to foreclose mortgages against property in the Huntington Beach section. The Winters suit involved a mortgage of $2200, the other two actions relating to mortgages of $1650 and $1500.

D. W. Hicks has a suit on file in superior court against J. W. T.
Kimball to quiet title to property in Santa Ana. Attorney Head, Rutan and Scovel represent the plaintiff.

DEATH CAUSED BY POISONING JURY DECIDES

That Mrs. Pascuala Ranjel, 476 North Cypress street, Orange, came to her death from acute poisoning without homicidal or suicidal intent, was the decision of the coroner's jury, yesterday, on the evidence of an autopsy.

Mrs. Ranjel had been taking medicine, prescribed by a physician. That it may have caused her death is the belief of Coroner C. D. Brown, who conducted the inquest.

The medicine has been submitted for analysis. Upon the findings in the analysis depends the future action of the coroner's office, it was said.

Mrs. Ranjel was 45 years old. She is survived by a daughter, Sarah Lopez. Services were conducted this morning in the Catholic church. Interment was made in Fairhaven cemetery.

SERVICES FOR VETERAN WILL BE HELD HERE

Funeral services for Earl Waller, 29, veteran of the World war, who died August 16 in Indianapolis, following an attack of typhoid fever and pneumonia, will be held in the Smith and Tuttle Funeral parlors at 10 a. m., tomorrow, with Santa Ana post, No. 131, American Legion, in charge. Burial will be made in Fairhaven cemetery.

Waller was a cousin of James Sleeper, Orange county assessor, and a nephew of Will Waller, of Trabuco. He formerly lived in San Bernardino, where he was a member of the graduating class of the San Bernardino high school in 1914.

Because of an enviable war record and his connection with the American Legion news service in Indianapolis during the last two years, he was held in high esteem by national headquarters, which dispatched a guard of honor to accompany the body to Santa Ana.

The body arrived here at noon today.

Waller was a graduate of the University of California, a member of the class of 1923, and later took a post graduate course at Columbia university, New York. During the war, he was a member of the Lost Battalion, according to information received here.

The Rev. William Roberts, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will have charge of the services and the American Legion post will conduct special services at the grave and will furnish pallbearers.

SWIMMING CLASS PROVES POPULAR

That swimming instruction for young children is needed in Santa Ana has been clearly demonstrated by the response to the announcement of another class at the Y. M. C. A.

An announcement of a class for small boys and girls, to be started next Monday was made Wednesday. The class was to be limited to 25 children, but by Thursday night, 25 applications had been received and Physical Director Ruskick is busy trying to figure out how he is going to manage to handle the children so as to avoid disappointing any of them.

Children who have registered will go to the Y. M. C. A. building Monday morning and Ruskick will do his best to take care of as many as possible. Children under six years of age will be eliminated from the class, so as to provide for those who are of an age to need the work most.

RATTLESNAKE IS BATTLED BY DOG

GUINDA, Calif., Aug. 20.—Bessie, a pet dog in the household of Mrs. C. Bloom, of this city, has been nominated a real hero—or rather, a heroine.

Recently, a large rattlesnake, four feet long and seven inches in circumference, crawled into the Bloom yard. Bessie saw the reptile and gave battle. For five minutes the dog fought, keeping out of reach of its fangs.

Just as Mrs. Bloom arrived on the scene, the rattler sank its fangs into the dog's jaw. A son killed the snake, while Mrs. Bloom administered first aid to the dog. At last reports, Bessie will live. She will suffer no other ill effects from the poison except a badly swollen neck.

5 Draw Fines On Gambling Charges

Five Orange Mexicans, Catarina Alvarado, Rogino Asedales, Ramon Ramirez, J. Nadarille and C. Hernandez, were fined $2 each when they appeared before Judge Ingle in Orange, this morning, to face charges of gambling. The men were arrested last night in a raid on a house on North Cypress street, Orange, by Officers Kirkwood and Johnson, who asserted that they found a stack of chips at each man's elbow.

Highway Between Corona Del Mar And Laguna Open

The state highway between Corona del Mar and Laguna Beach is completed and open to travel, it was announced today by the Los Angeles office of the highway commission.

Some work still remains to be done on the highway and men will be employed on the road for several weeks, but the road will remain open to travel. The highway is paved with concrete and oil macadam, with rock shoulders on either side. The state highway strip between Laguna Beach and Serra will be finished in about three weeks, it is estimated.

The Corona del Mar-Laguna Beach contract is held by Kavanaugh and Twohy, of Los Angeles. The Serra-Laguna Beach work is being carried out under the direction of the Willis company.

Radio Publicity For P.-T. A. Fair Day Is Promised

Added publicity will be given over the air to the various attractions of the coming county fair, particularly to the program arranged for Parent-Teacher day, September 3, by the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, broadcasting over KNX, Los Angeles.

Such news was contained in a letter received today by Mrs. Pay Spangler, president of the Santa Ana city federation of the Parent-Teacher organization. As a result of this and other publicity given the event by the various Parent-Teacher publicity agencies, a record attendance, including a large number of visitors from Los Angeles and nearby counties, is expected for Parent-Teacher day at the fair, Mrs. Spangler said.

'Kittymobile' Aids Cat Born With Two Legs

MARYSVILLE, Calif., Aug. 20.—One of the strangest vehicles in California, a "kittymobile," is the invention of Gus Salles. Motive power of this machine is low—just one kitten, in fact—but the circumstances connected with its development are unique, if nothing else.

A kitten was born in the Salles household with only two legs. Except for this deformity, it was normal in every respect. With rare ingenuity, Salles set about to supply the missing legs. He devised two small wheels, operating on an axle, which he attached to the rear parts of the kitten. The attachment worked. In fact, Salles declares, his "kittymobile" runs much better than a lot of automobiles he has seen.

One of the prominent New York hotels has arranged for airplane transportation for its guests to any part of the country.

GAIN SHOWN IN QUALIFICATION OF VOTERS IN ORANGE COUNTY

Santa Ana's Increase Over Registration for Harbor Bonds Election Is 1511

BOOST SHOWN IN EVERY COMMUNITY

Largest Per Cent Jump Is Record of Garden Grove, With Fullerton Second

Santa Ana's registration of voters for the August primary election was 11,419, an increase of 1511 over the registration for the harbor bond election June 10, which was 9908, according to official figures issued today by County Clerk J. M. Backs.

The gain of 7455 in Orange county registration between the harbor bond election in June and the August primary election was well distributed throughout the county, showing a uniform interest in political issues and candidates of the present campaign, according to observers.

Backs' office has just completed segregating the county's 40,569 registration by precincts, as it stands for the primary election. Santa Ana's increase of 1511 over its registration for the harbor election is the largest gain of any city in the county, although Garden Grove, with an increase of 359, recorded the largest per cent gain. That city jumped from 724 to 1083, an increase of approximately 50 per cent. Santa Ana's increase was slightly above 15 per cent. Fullerton had the next largest increase, advancing from 2937 to 3422 and again passing Orange, which was ahead in June. Orange was next in order of increase with an advance from 2092 to 2331. Anaheim's gain was next largest, that city having a registration of 4274 in June and 4408 at present.

The third supervisorial district continued to lead the county in registration, with a total of 13,579. The first district had 11,037; the second district, 5464; the fourth district, 4814, and the fifth district, 5685.

Registration by cities for the two elections, showing the gain follows:

City	June 10	Aug. 20	Gain

SEASON'S DEATH KNELL FOR STRAW HAT APPROACHES AND FELTS RUSHED TO CLEANERS

The annual rush to have the old felt hat cleaned up has begun. If you don't believe so, just trek down to a certain hat cleaning emporium on West Fourth street. A few more weeks and the death knell of the straw and Panama will be sounded.

May 13 was the official day for the donning of the straw, and from then until the first of July their sales increased, but by the middle of the month the stores could not notice a decrease in the number sold, and the ones that are bought now are to tide over for the few remaining weeks of strawdom, when they will be carefully pinned up in newspapers and put away until next May.

Date Not Announced
The California Association of Retail Clothiers settles the important question of the birth and death of the straw hat. The last day on which they officially can be worn, but it is understood that it will be around the middle of September, as the date last year was the thirteenth. Perhaps it is a good thing that the appearance and disappearance of women's hats is not within the jurisdiction of the association, as it would be a terrible catastrophe if, by some chance, the dates should get mixed.

The straw really are more interesting at the end of their reign than at the beginning. Seeing them hanging in the cleaning shop, it is the easiest thing in the world to know just what kind of man owns each one.

Here's Real Panama
The Panama, hanging to the left, belongs to a middle aged man, who always looks as if he had just stepped out of a band box. This is the third time this summer he has had the hat cleaned. Being a genuine Panama, it can be cleaned any number of times and always come out looking like new. The cheap hats stain badly and do not clean well.

The owner of this shop always tells his customers if the hat will not clean well, so that they will be disappointed with the result. Usually he is told to go on and do the best he can. There was a beautiful Panama hat in this shop that just had been cleaned. The straw was so fine and soft that it looked exactly like silk and could be folded and creased in any way without hurting it in the least.

This hat was bought in Panama several years ago for $50 and probably will last the owner as long as he lives, for they can be rebuffed as the styles change. And the styles do change for men the same as for women.

From the little Alpine hat of years ago to the large, stiff sailor of not so very many years past, we now see almost every style and shape conceivable.

TRAFFIC HOLDS NO TERROR FOR COOING PIGEONS

Tame Little Birds Congregate Daily on Busiest Street Corner in City

What other city can boast of having a flock of pigeons living on the busiest corner in town? From early in the morning until roosting time, the pigeons can be seen at the corner of Fourth and Main streets. Traffic holds no terror for them, for, despite the fastest speeder or the slowest driver, they calmly go their way without so much as one jump to escape injury.

Some persons say the pigeons live in Birch park, others that they make their headquarters in the cupola of the Spurgeon building, under the clock, while still others believe they roost on top of the First National bank building, but no one has been able to find out definitely where they make their nests.

Trying To Reduce?

These pigeons have a friend who looks to their welfare, never forgetting that they like dainties to eat, and early every morning, just as the cigar stand is opened, two pigeons go to the corner to be given their breakfast. The remainder of the flock evidently is trying to reduce by doing with out the morning meal, but no doubt it makes up for it at noon, judging by the number of perfect fies among them. At 1:15 p. m. the birds gather on the top of the nearby building and wait until an ice cream truck has delivered its load to the drug store, then, like an army going over the top, they swoop to the pavement and strut and coo until their lunch of especially purchased wheat and peanuts is thrown to them. Perhaps it is wrong to say thrown, for they are perfectly willing to go after it and will eat out of the hand that feeds them, or perch on the cigar stand. The young man who feeds them journeys several times a week to the grain store to get a supply of food for them. The birds seem to think that the corner of the sidewalk is especially reserved for them, barely stepping out of the way of pedestrians. When the birds are being fed, pedestrians are obliged to step over or around them. In all the time that they have been making this corner their rendezvous for meals, only one bird has been hurt. Placing too much faith in the motorists of Santa Ana, this one failed to sidestep an automobile and was struck. A Boy Scout took the pigeon, cared for its wounds and fed it until it was able to return to the flock.

Boy Finds Pet
A small boy was watching the flock one day, when he spied "Pete," his own pet, which had been lost for weeks. Walking into the midst of the flock, the boy called, "Pete, come here," and put out his arm. Pete calmly flew upon his shoulder, settled down, and then gave the boy a hard peck on the ear—perhaps for not finding him sooner.

There are about 30 pigeons in the flock, but at present not so many gather at the same time, because according to the young man who feeds them, some are on their nests.

SHERMAN BUCK IS HAPPY NOW, FOR AT LAST HIS DREAMS HAVE BEEN FULFILLED

Above—Sherman Buck, pioneer rancher, who, after six years of disappointments, has found oil on his ranch near Huntington Beach. He still is a farmer, as the picture shows. Center—L. B. Breese, pumper at the Buck well, and Sherman Buck, inspecting the well. Bottom—The oil well which is pumping dollars into the hard-working farmer's pockets.

27 LONG YEARS OF LABOR END WHEN DREAMS ARE FULFILLED

Orange County Farmer Has Fondest Hopes Materialize with Finding of Oil

SHERMAN BUCK IS NOW WEALTHY MAN

Land Purchased Long Ago For $125 Acre Now Valued Highly by Company

"Sherman Buck, pioneer Orange county farmer, has an oil well at last."

That statement is the climax to story of 27 years of hard work on his ranch—27 years of exalted hopes, disappointments, of confidence that some day oil would be found on his ranch.

Twenty-seven years ago, Sherman Buck, who for 51 years has lived in Orange county, settled in the flats west of Wintersburg and northwest of Huntington Beach. He raised potatoes, beets and beans, mowed hay, working from morning until night.

When he first moved to the section, he purchased 20 acres of land, at $125 an acre. When it was paid for, he invested in more land, buying 150 acres of land at $400 an acre. Farming kept him busy.

Then, in 1920, the oil boom came to Huntington Beach. Buck began to live "oil." He was one of the first persons to lease land to oil companies. The General Petroleum corporation secured a lease on his property.

Company Withdraws
Success seemed about to come Buck's way. Oil wells continued to come in at Huntington Beach. The General Petroleum set a location for a well. Then the company suffered a huge loss in another oil field and quitclaimed Buck's property back to him.

His hopes exploded, Buck refused to lose confidence. He leased again. This time to G. O. Jagers. Jagers began drilling immediately. The drills went deeper. A showing of oil was found. Then Jagers struck trouble in other fields. The two rigs on the Buck ranch were moved away and all that remained of the oil wells were holes in the ground.

With the abandonment of the project, Buck's confidence was shaken, but not lost. For three years he continued farming the land. Then King G. Gillette appeared on the scene and leased the land. Gillette erected a rig and then decided he did not want to drill the property. He sold out to the California Petroleum company.

Then things began to happen. Buck declares that there "never was so much activity about the place." The California Petroleum company found oil and brought in a well, which yesterday flowed 283 barrels of good gravity oil.

Still Hope Potatoes
Today, Buck's face is lighted with a happy smile. He still drives his mowing machine, hoes potatoes and farms beans and beets. But over in one corner of his ranch is an oil well.

Buck is receiving something like $70 a day, or a paltry $2100 a month, from his oil well. Then, too, the California Petroleum company has made location for another well, which will be started at once.

Incidentally, the property which

Ticket Not Fixed As Boy Supposed; Jail Doors Clang

Herbert Hudlow, San Bernardino, was arrested and lodged in jail last night on a charge of violation of the state motor vehicle act by F. G. Yoder, state officer.

It is alleged that Hudlow was arrested several months ago and told to appear in answer to a ticket given him on June 11. The youth did appear and was given a five-day jail sentence, officers claim. He asked for time, it is asserted, and Justice Kenneth Morrison granted his request.

In the meantime, someone in Santa Ana informed the boy that his case had been "fixed," according to Yoder, so when the time came for him to go to jail, he didn't appear. A warrant was issued and Yoder made the arrest yesterday.

Many of the junior chamber members have returned from vacations and that factor is expected to assist in bringing about a better attendance. Several business matters of importance are to be discussed, it was said by President Mason Yould.

The meeting will be held in Ketter's cafe, beginning with dinner at 6:30.

Indian Fighter And Adventurer Visits Capital

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 20.—The "California Kid," picturesque Theodor of fortune, scout, fighter of Indians, Spaniards, Chinese and Germans, has paid this city another visit.

"The Kid," so named by Governor James Budd 32 years ago, has always been on hand when fighting broke loose. He served in the Spanish-American war, Boxer rebellion and the World war, where he lost an arm when an ammunition wagon exploded on the American front lines.

"The old right arm is gone, but I still am a crack shot with the left," the "Kid" remarked.

Gunn now is working for Uncle Sam as a scout. Accompanied by two burros, he wanders through national forests, searching for the little puffs of smoke that indicate forest fires. While in Sacramento, he visited his old friend, H. C. Peterson, curator of the Fort Sutter museum.

WEST COAST IN GREATER MOVIE SEASON LINEUP

As an important link in the gigantic West Coast circuit, the West Coast-Walker theater will participate in this state-wide film festival, celebrating the first West Coast Greater Movie Season in line with the 30th anniversary of motion pictures. It was announced by Resident Manager C. E. Walker.

On the occasion of this noteworthy movement institutional plans call for the introduction of a superlative brand of new-age entertainment. New era pictures, finer music, and highly embellished stage productions are to be emphasized during this celebration. Because of the prominent place motion picture held in public regard, every effort is being made by West Coast executives to impress cinema lovers with the sterling quality of the new picture product for the season 1926-27, and the high ideals and character of those who make and exhibit this product.

Styled "West Coast Greater Movie Season" this thirtieth anniversary of motion pictures will be celebrated in approximately 175 theaters, stretching from Sacramento on the north to San Diego on the international boundary line. In line with the National Greater Movie Season, conducted under the guidance of Will H. Hays, czar of filmdom, officials of West Coast Theaters Inc. have joined hands in inaugurating an exclusive West Coast celebration for the state-wide observance of such a notable motion picture movement. This important action definitely supports the coming season of big feature picture production and studio activity with the approval of the world's greatest intra-state chain.

According to A. M. Bowles, general manager of the extensive West Coast circuit, the celebration of an exclusive West Coast Greater Movie Season has been inaugurated primarily to call attention to the progress that since the birth of the cinema, 30 years ago, its miraculous evolution has today placed it in ranking as the fourth largest industry in America. The rapid progress of such a tremendous enterprise is considered one of the outstanding achievements of the 20th century.

Circulation Of Bibles Doubles

BUDAPEST, Aug. 20.—The number of Bibles bought in Hungary has more than doubled during the past two years, according to a statement issued by the association of publishers.

In 1923 the Hungarian people bought 12,000 copies of the Testaments. In 1924 more than 26,855 were purchased. Last year 28,855 passed from the book sellers to the public. During 1925 the publishers anticipate that the demand will exceed 30,000 copies.

Miss Thomas won first honors in a beauty contest held by the Des Moines Capital for the state of Iowa. She is appearing at the Yost Broadway theater as one of the Hi-Lo Five, a splendid singing quintette.

WEST COAST-WALKER

Five acts of first-class vaudeville are on the bill at the West Coast-Walker theater tonight and tomorrow. Grant and Wallace Revue in "A Melange of Music and Song" have played in the largest cities and have been received with tremendous applause at every appearance. They do a fast combination of music, dancing and singing which two snappy boys and three clever girls put over with a bang.

Jim McGill, "a fellow of infinite jest," is a rollicking son of a perpetual smile and is a real comedian. He presents an entirely new offering of imitations, stories and singing at all of which McGill is most capable.

Margie Maywood is an attractive miss that will amuse you with her marvelous voice and her funny songs. She is a comedienne of note and has always made the audience feel good with her clean cut stories.

The Rondas Duo in "Music on Wheels" are the only people in the world who play musical instruments while riding on a single wheel. Rondas plays the accordion and Miss Rondas plays a saxophone.

Phil Godfrey and company in "The Tumbling Fool" present what they term the "Tumbling Fool," two chaps whose versatility is unquestioned. A little of almost everything is offered by these clever performers.

"The Johnstown Flood," a picture featuring George O'Brien and Florence Gilbert, is the West Coast-Walker's screen offering.

YOST THEATER

Another highly amusing and wholly entertaining picture with that popular screen star, Hoot Gibson, in the featured role, is being presented now at the Yost theater here.

Gibson again is cast in the type of role that fits him so well—that of the comedy cowboy, and "The Man in the Saddle" makes a thoroughly diverting picture, without a dull moment from the opening scene to the final fadeout.

It is almost entirely comedy of the lightest and most whimsical nature, with Gibson moving from adventure to adventure with a breezy and engaging manner productive of the highest type of entertainment.

Fay Wray plays the feminine lead opposite the star, with Sally Long, Emmett King, Clark Comstock, Charles Hill Mailes, Duke Lee, Floyd Whitlock and others, in the cast.

Oil Supplanting Coal In England

LONDON, Aug. 20.—Oil-burning machinery is fast replacing coal-burning furnaces due to England's shortage of coal. The result may eventually prove that the striking miners are blowing themselves up with their own powder. It is said, fuel oil is found to be less expensive than using imported coal and an increasing number of mills are adopting oil as standard fuel.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain
How to Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any drugstore a few ounces of Blusated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Blusated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain
How to Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any drugstore a few ounces of Blusated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Blusated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

FICTION CROP
FOR FALL LUSH
REVIEW SHOWS

New York wholesaler reports show the following books are in the greatest demand: "The Silver Spoon," "After Noon," "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," "Beau Sabreur," "Mantrap," and "The Exquisite Perdition."

It begins to look like a lush literary fall.

The first leaves to flutter our way are quite brilliant in coloring, and by early September the shelves will be heavy with important sounding names and titles.

New books by Edna Ferber, Carl Van Vechten, H. G. Wells, Rudyard Kipling, Ellen Glasgow, Hamilton Gibbs, Julian Street and nearly everyone in the literary who.

The house of Doran has chosen to give the bookworm a literary mystery. There will be more than a little debating on the identity of "Austin Macleod," an admitted pseudonym, adopted by the writer of "Loom of the Pool."

This tale of a man's struggle with compromise is a shrewd and studied bit of writing. He has subordinated his desires and dreams to a standardized life, to a good wife, to the requirements of his town's social life. He has allowed himself to be bound, mind and soul. His wife's death breaks the bond, but he doesn't know what to do about it. He is a fool where women are concerned and, as one of the characters remarks: "He was born to be a prey of good women."

Food for Debate
There's a line to tantalize the hearthstone debaters. Can a good woman become as sinister and damning an influence as a bad one—or, an even worse one?

In this novel we see both influences. Gordon, his freedom in his hand, continues to compromise. It has become a habit. He likes it. It's comfortable.

He threatens to let a queuing relative of his wife take her place.

Temporarily he is awakened by an amnesia, who helps him with his novel; a young woman of particularly penetrating viewpoint, completely modern in outlook who stirs him to cut loose and find new scenes and contacts in his search for freedom.

In New York he finds salon life, becomes a figure in the tragedy of a poignantly lovely little French girl, and lumberingly stumbles his way into the arms of a sentimental but appealing fleshing, and again blindly juggles a few months of the life of a little model.

Joys for Philosophy
One thing and then another comes to startle his philosophies—just as in life. He returns home to discover that the bonds were largely of his own making and can be shaken off there as easily or elsewhere, if he chooses.

The book, unfortunately, begins to "slush" toward the finish. The mechanism begins to squeak and the symbols replace characters. There is even a dash of moralizing and unfortunate sloppiness.

There is much of uncommon wisdom and some character drawing that will not soon be forgotten.

Oh yes—in spite of the publisher's reference to the author as "he" we have a feeling that this book was most likely written by a woman.

"Listen, Moon," (Viking Press) it may be that Leonard Cline has written the American "Zuleika Dobson." One is frequently reminded of the Beerbohm book and then—wham, whizz!—comes the intrusion of American jazztime melodrama.

A hilarious book is this, to be recommended to all and sundry. It is difficult to conceive of it coming from the pen of the man who wrote "God Head" in a style that lulls with poetry and color is here told a ludicrous and fantastic tale.

Piracy and Such
The theme is that "in the heart of every man there lives a pirate." Behold, then, a staid professor of Latin and Greek, tossed into the contact of a sophisticated flapper who has just been bounced from Bryn Mawr. Her father, the town pastor, is also head of the Klan.

Circumstances rise to make the prof an arch conspirator, in flight from the Klan and in search of piracy. Aboard the ship are an astounding company, including the delightful Hiltonshire Moggs, whose wealth is used on a foundation "for the purveying of useless things to worthy people."

The parson himself is kidnapped, the whole crew is lured for chicken, the judge falls for the lure and joins the crew, a "treasure map" is stumbled upon and there is treasure hunt and battling bootleggers, all done in a most hilarious mood.

The whole thing is more than merely clever—there is much not-deeply-hidden satire, much straight burlesque, and more than a little artistry in the handling.

We herewith nominate Clara Bow to play the "flapper" when the moving picture rights are sold.

LODGE ACTIVITIES

DAMON-PYTHIAS EPISODE MADE BASIS OF PLAY

The dramatic episode in the lives of Damon and Pythias at which time, according to history, Pythias took the place in prison of his friend, Damon, in order that Damon might visit his family for the last time, and, a consequence, Pythias faced the executioner's axe in the absence of his friend, is the basis of the play "Damon and Pythias" which is to be given at Yost's Spurgeon street theater the evening of Friday, August 26, in connection with the regular performance, announced today by officers of Santa Ana lodge No. 143, Knights of Pythias, under whose auspices the play will be produced.

The cast is made up of members of Los Angeles lodge, No. 2, and has been acclaimed over the entire state as a production worthy of the highest praise, both from the angle of quality as a dramatic production and as a lesson of friendship.

Plans for the presentation in Santa Ana were completed by Edward W. Cochems and J. A. Gajeski, officials of the lodge. Pythias, Pythian sisters and their friends from all the lodges in Knights of Pythias district No. 31 have been invited to witness the play.

SCOT CONVENTION PLANS COMPLETED

That Santa Cruz is determined to make the annual Scot convention November 4, 5 and 6, the biggest and best ever, is shown by the fact that the plans are almost complete at this early date, according to W. B. Ashford, top arch of the local order.

The town is backing the convention and is enthused over the prospects. The Santa Cruz chamber of commerce has guaranteed the money, and housing accommodations for 3600 persons have been secured.

Santa Cruz plans to show the delegates and visitors that it is the coming city on the coast. Ten thousand delegates are expected and the total sum of expenditures is estimated at $200,000.

The convention will be the largest convocation in the history of Santa Cruz. There are 44 pyramids in California and two outside of the state, one in Reno, Nev., and a new one in Seattle.

Auxiliary Plans Outing at Beach

Calumet auxiliary members are anticipating an enjoyable time at Newport Beach tomorrow night, when they will hold a weiner roast. Comrade Burris, of Newport, has extended an invitation to the drum corps to be present as well.

Announcement of the success of the California Drum corps at the national convention, in Des Moines, was made at the recent meeting, the organization having taken first honors.

At this same meeting, committees were appointed to plan the entertainment for the various camps and auxiliaries at the Citrus Belt picnic, to be held in Orange County park, September 13. Another committee was named to work in cooperation with the American Legion for the proper observance of Armistice day.

Last week-end, a number of members of the camp and their families took advantage of the hospitality of Comrade and Mrs. Offitt, of Carlsbad, and held a camping party at their place. On Sunday, main features of the party, bill of fare were roasting ears and watermelons, furnished by the host.

INSTALLATION IS CONDUCTED BY DAUGHTERS

Knights of Columbus hall was transformed into a veritable flower garden last Monday night, in honor of the installation of the new officers of Santa Ana parlor, No. 235, Native Daughters of the Golden West. Rich-hued zinnias, gorgeous dahlias and Japanese lilacs, artistically arranged in baskets and bowls, and flags and banners of the order made a pleasing background for the visiting grand officers and Santa Ana staff, all attired in snowy white gowns.

Mrs. Bertha Hitt, district deputy grand president and president of Long Beach parlor, was the installing officer, assisted by Mrs. Charlotte Bennett, president of San Pedro parlor, who acted as chairman; Mrs. Nora Dodd, of Long Beach, grand marshal; Mrs. Alma Werner of San Pedro, acting marshal; Mrs. Kate McFadyen, of Long Beach, past grand president; Mrs. Helen Crevantes, organist; Miss Marvel Thomas, of Los Angeles, grand director; Kittie Dillon, Long Beach, and Hazel Raines, of San Pedro, grand trustees; Lillian Lassiter, of Long Beach, grand recording secretary; Lena Hanson, Long Beach, inside sentinel, and Julia Arbourn, Long Beach, outside sentinel; Daisy Hanson, Long Beach, and Calista de Soto, Los Angeles, also assisted.

A feature of the solemn ceremonies was the rendition of the installation ode by Mrs. Cervantes.

Director is Welcomed
Miss Marvel Thomas, grand director, was given a hearty welcome and, under good of the order, congratulated Santa Ana parlor upon its work and extended thanks to its delegates for the assistance given her in her election to the high office of grand director at the recent grand parlor, in Sacramento. She gave a cordial invitation to the members of the parlor to attend a reception and dance, to be given by Los Angeles parlor, in her honor, on the night of August 25. The invitation was accepted and a stage will be chartered for the occasion if enough members desire to attend. An invitation also was extended to the celebration of Admission day, September 9, in the Union stockyards, Los Angeles, when a monument will be unveiled in memory of the battle of La Mesa.

Mrs. Calista de Soto, president of Los Angeles parlor, asked the co-operation of the parlor in making a success of a dance to be given October 3 for the benefit of the homeless children under the care of the Native Daughters. It will be held in the Shrine auditorium and it is hoped to entertain 7000 persons. Mrs. Charlotte Bennett, of San Pedro, introduced the revered pioneer of Southern California, Mrs. Rudecinda Sepulveda de Dodson, for whom the San Pedro parlor was named.

2 Applicants Read
The applications of two candidates were read and balloted upon and a communication was read from Sacramento, denying a rumor that that city could not provide accommodations for its visitors for the Admission day celebration, September 8 and 9. The letter stated that visitors would be entertained in the homes of citizens when hotels were filled.

Mrs. Mamie Conn Schonberg, new president of Santa Ana parlor, was presented a bouquet of lavender asters from the retiring president, Mrs. Louise Grouard Mock, who now is in Yosemite, the marshal, Mrs. Genevieve Hickey, making the presentation.

The officers installed last night were:

President, Mrs. Mamie C. Schonberg; first vice president, Mrs. Mary Moore; second vice president, Mrs. Eunice Fox; third vice president, Mrs. Olive Lopez; recording secretary, Miss Dorothy Thurston; financial secretary, Miss Mildred Fox; treasurer, Mrs. Stella Stiffier; marshal, Mrs. Genevieve Hickey; inside sentinel, Mrs. Muriel Bray; outside sentinel, Mrs. Clara Gerken; trustees, Miss Elsie Carter, chairman, Mrs. Elizabeth Marsile, and Mrs. Cora Ross; organist, Mrs. Freda Barger.

Mrs. Schonberg appointed her committees for the term and one to confer with the Native Sons in the matter of a clubhouse.

TIDES TO EXCEED SEVEN-FOOT MARK

Visions of damage caused by high tides and winds along the Orange county coast line last winter will rise before the eyes of coast town inhabitants Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, when the tide will reach and exceed the seven-foot mark.

While the tide will not be the highest of the year, it will give those who love to see the ocean front whipped by high seas and heavy breakers an "eye-fel." Monday night, at 7:42, the tide will reach a height of seven feet, three inches. Sunday night, at 8:28, and Monday, at 9:15 p. m., the tide will rise to a height of seven feet, five inches. Tuesday night, at 10 o'clock, the tide will fall back to seven feet, one inch.

A low tide of minus one foot will afford abalone hunters a chance to wrestle with the fish at 3:16 Monday morning, it is reported. It is doubted, however, whether the ardor of those who find delight in having a tug-of-war with a fish will cause them to rise so early.

Reports from the weather observatory of Antares, Newport Beach, are to the effect that the tide along the Orange county coast will not be high enough to cause any damage.

MANY RENOUNCING DUAL CITIZENSHIP

TOKIO, Aug. 20.—The number of Japanese-Americans born in the United States and Hawaii who renounced their dual citizenship and assumed the full-fledged citizenship of their birth places has been increasing since the revision of the nationality law in Japan in 1924.

Before the revision of the law was effected, maintenance of Japanese parentage under dual citizenship was not allowed to renounce their Japanese citizenship after they attained the age of 17 years.

According to an investigation conducted during a period from December 1, 1924, to November 30, 1925, the number of children who were born in the United States and were registered with the American number, 1783 were registered with the Japanese authorities, as preferring to maintain dual citizenship.

The number of children born in the United States who renounced their Japanese nationality in that year in favor of American totaled 1083.

An investigation conducted in Hawaii in the same year shows that 6024 children of Japanese parentage were born in Hawaii. Of this number, 3945 renounced their dual citizenship. Children who remained Americans totaled 1379, while those who renounced their Japanese nationality in favor of America totaled 449.

In 1922, Japanese-Americans who renounced their Japanese citizenship totaled 242, in 1923 337, and in 1924 1983. Japanese-Americans in Hawaii who renounced their Japanese citizenship in 1922 totaled 41, in 1923 85, and in 1924 449.

WALL ST. JOURNAL

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Further heavy liquidation on short selling broke out in the money market, forcing the market leaders, Steel, General Motors and other industrial leaders made two distinct efforts to rally, one after the opening, the other around 1 o'clock. But large offerings greeted each attempt and prices had another sharp break as the afternoon progressed.

Rail operators like Durant and Schwab were said to be abandoning the constructive side which they had espoused since the end of May. Selling of this character accounted for the large blocks of stocks which were offered for sale apparently regardless of price.

Made confident of the large scale nature of the liquidation, Bearish professionals added momentum to the downward movement through aggressive activities on the short side.

However, the decline proceeded in orderly fashion. No bad breaks occurred and a good market was maintained on a scale down in the principal speculative issues.

Interesting News of the Day Told In Pictures

Miss Edna White was a business man's secretary in Vancouver, B. C., unbothered by any dreams of wealth. Then, the other day, an almost forgotten uncle, Ames Rubideaux, died and left her heirless to his estate of 2300 acres in Pima county, Arizona. The land contains some of the richest gold mines in the state, and their value is estimated at upwards of $75,000,000. So now Miss White is forming a $5,900,000 company to develop the property.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt, for the first time since the World war, again dons the khaki and insignia of the 26th—his old regiment. Photo shows him arriving at Plattsburg for a 15-day training period.

Twenty thousand war veterans of France paraded to the Arc d'Triomphe, in Paris, as a protest against the terms of the debt settlement with the United States. Photo shows a section of the line passing the statue of George Washington.

This is Miss Genelle Green, 17-year-old high school girl of Lindsay, named as queen of the Tulare County fair, at Tulare, September 21, to 25. With Spec O'Donnell, freckle-faced movie star, as king, Queen Genelle will rule and assist judging in the San Joaquin valley contest for freckle-faced boys.

This is "Bob" LeRoy, leader of Seattle dance hall girls, organized to fight the edict of Mayor Bertha Landes against the girls introducing themselves to men. The girls have formed a union and affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

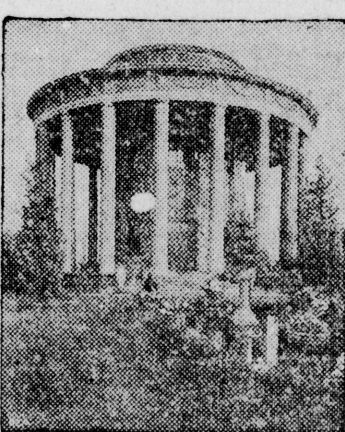

Transplanting eye and grafting new legs and spinal cords is everyday work for Dr. H. L. Wieman, University of Cincinnati zoologist. He experiments with salamanders, keeping about 50 of them in glass bowls. Recently he cut off a salamander's leg and caused an eye to grow there. It's a good eye, too.

These two 18-year-old girls were held in jail at Carlinville, Ill., as a result of the murder of Charles Spotti, proprietor of a soft drink parlor, where they were waitresses. Opal Phillips (left) admits firing the shot that killed him, police say, while Cora McNear (right) is held as a material witness against her chum.

Fifteen years ago, Samuel Hayden, business man, failed in Clay Center, Kas., and went $15,000 into debt. He vowed to pay off every cent, and did so, at the rate of $1000 a year. Now he has just paid off the last of it, at the cost of much self denial. "It's the happiest day of my life," he says. He now lives in Chicago.

George Ward, former mayor of Birmingham, Ala., has one of the most unusual homes in America. Cylindrical in shape, it was modeled after the ancient temple of Vesta, in Rome. And it has all the comforts of home.

For eight years, Chicago has had a mysterious hermit without knowing it. Otto, shown above, has a lair in some rocks along the lake front, near the Field museum and close to the downtown district. He supports himself by catching minnows, which he sells to fishermen.

This, dear friends, is the shoebill, or whale-headed stork. When he isn't at the London zoo, he spends his time in bringing little fellows to deserving fallahen along the White Nile in Egypt. No wonder he smiles!

Capt. Otto C. Dowling, wounded commander of the Lake Denmark, N. J., naval ammunition depot, as he appeared before a board of inquiry to testify that the arsenal had been overstocked with explosives when the lightning struck, setting off the blast that wiped it out of existence.

For 65 years, Otto and Alfred Erickson, twin brothers, have lived and worked together—and they've never had a quarrel. Their lives have been remarkably similar. Born in Sweden, each married a Norwegian girl in the same year; each has seven children; each follows the trade of painting and paper hanging; they live on the same street in St. Paul, Minn.; neither has ever seen a movie nor been to a dance. And both read their Bibles religiously every night.

Sol Luft, five years old, of New York, twists a steel bar into a "W" like the "strong men" of the stage do. The steel is five feet long and a quarter inch thick. Sol himself only weighs 35 pounds, and his parents claim he has developed his strength on a strict vegetarian diet.

Major (that's his given name) Goodsell, world champion sculler, is here from Australia to challenge American scullers. Here he is instructing the Misses Pattie and Connie Edwards, expert rowers, at Balboa.

"Nicholas Sokoloff," prize Russian wolf hound, owned by Mrs. Icelo McMahon, of San Francisco, hasn't a hair on his body that isn't pure white. He has won many first prizes in Oakland and San Francisco dog shows. He's shown here with his owner.

The small town of Moss Point, Miss., near Biloxi, has the distinction of having six couples, all of whom have been married more than 50 years. Left to right, they are Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Thompson; Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Gause; Capt. and Mrs. S. D. Denny; Mr. and Mrs. D. W. McLeod; Mr. and Mrs. John H. Myers; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Wood.

Hillier Hawthorne Straton, son of Dr. John Roach Straton, fundamentalist leader of New York Baptists, is to be a preacher, too. He is 21, recently delivered his first sermon from his father's pulpit in Calvary Baptist church, and will be ordained shortly. "You can bet your life I was not raised on Mencken and bridge parties," he says.

Mayor John H. Wilson, of Honolulu (inset) will direct and participate in the restoration of the old Queen Emma Home, grass thatched remnant of regal days in Hawaii. The hut is 75 years old. Mayor Wilson was selected for the job because as a boy he lived in a similar house and knows how they are built.

Here we have a group from the Coconut Heavers' Protective guild, assembled as a committee of the whole. According to a statement given out by the chairman, there are several itching problems to be scratched out. Keen observers say that the shortage of peanuts during the Coolidge administration is one of the problems that must be solved during this convalesce. The union is one of the very oldest in the world, all other organizations, whether amalgamated, protective, wet, democratic or otherwise, tracing their origin back to this early group, we are informed by Darwin & Co. There are many familiar faces in this little bunch. These delegates-at-large are from every section of the country. But, for purposes of positive identification, they are (left to right) Senator—but, after all, what's in a name? You know them. Go on and name them.

At Milpitas, Calif., where only 200 persons live, the most important roles in the annual school play, "The Toreador," were won by Japanese students. Left to right, Shizue Handa, Yoshio Manemoto and Hatsuho Yamaoka. All three have been recommended for movie jobs as a result of their showing.

LONG BEACH HOPES TO STOP S. A. GRIDMEN

BILLY EVANS
Says

Dame Fortune continues to smile on Shortstop Everett Scott.

Ever since his major league debut the "breaks" have always favored him, artistically as well as financially.

When a player can perform in 1307 consecutive games at the difficult position of shortstop and suffer only a few minor injuries, he can feel that he has been born under a lucky star.

That has been the experience of Everett Scott. He started his endurance record as a member of the Boston Red Sox on June 20, 1916, and finished it with New York, May 5, 1925.

Enough of Scott's record as a player; now for the breaks that have come his way financially, and are continuing.

IN SEVERAL WORLD SERIES

Making his big league debut with Boston, he shared in three world series as a member of that club in 1915-16-18. In each event he received the winner's cut, as Boston triumphed over Philadelphia, Brooklyn and Chicago.

A few years later Harry Frazee, then owner of the Boston club, began to dispose of his stars. It was Scott's good fortune to be sold to the New York Yankees. He supplanted Roger Peckinpaugh in 1922 as shortstop on that team.

The Yankees won the pennant that season, also the next. Scott's portion was a loser's share in 1922 when the Giants beat the Yankees, and the winner's end the following year when the Yankees turned the tables.

In 1925, New York disposed of Scott to Washington, and the Senators obligingly came through with another pennant. Pittsburgh defeated Washington, and Scott had to be content with the small end of the world series purse.

OFFER FROM COLLINS

At the close of the 1925 campaign Scott announced his retirement. He realized his legs were going back on him, so he decided to depart before getting the "gate."

Recalls Game Last Year In Which Poly Took First Game In Ten Years

Long Beach high school expects to stop Santa Ana high school in the very first football game of the 1926 Coast Preparatory league season.

Still smarting under their 6 to 0 debacle in the season's curtain-raiser at Poly field here last fall, a defeat that threw them off the championship trail from the first, the Jackrabbits are making preparations to "rub" that reversal the other way when the two old rivals clinch at Long Beach field October 18 this season.

All this is according to Long Beach high school representatives who visited The Register today on a sort of pre-season scouting review.

Coach Russell Sprong enjoyed anything but a successful season in his first term at the Long Beach steering wheel in 1925, that is, anything but a successful one for Long Beach which considers the season a

FULLERTON ALL-STARS FAIL TO SHOW; SANTA ANA RUINS ANAHEIM SUBSTITUTES, 14-2

The highly publicized contest that was to have been played at Lincoln park here last night between the all-star teams of Santa Ana and Fullerton, ancient athletic rivals, turned out to be nothing more or less than a farce.

For some reason, as yet undetermined, Fullerton (which had made overtures for the encounter) found it impossible to make the lengthy trip here and, too late to notify the public, arranged for an untested and inexperienced Anaheim city league squad to sub for it.

The result was a rank fiasco, Santa Ana winning under wraps, 14 to 2.

Jimmy Mansfield started on the firing line for the local ensemble and fanned the first six men to face him. Bill Cole then took up the pitching burden and though he made every effort to give the Mother Colonists some batting practice, making every ball a "fat" one in the home run groove, the visitors were unable to get a hit until the last of the ninth and after two were away at that. Lawrence then doubled to left, scoring two runners who had reached first on errors.

To make the thing as much like a ball game as possible, Mansfield pitched the last three rounds for Anaheim. Santa Ana got to him for three scores in the eighth. Gene Hitt, local first baseman, was the evening's hitting lion. He banged out a homer, a triple and two singles in four attempts. Newt Stark contributed a double, a triple and a homer. Cole lined out a triple and Lee broke into the extra base column with a double. Santa Ana garnered 15 bingles off the combined pitching of Lloyd and Mansfield.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 20.—With Georgia Rivers still being favored to take the decision over Corporal Izzy Schwartz in their match tonight in the Hollywood American Legion stadium, both boxers wound up their training yesterday afternoon and are resting until the flyweights must make 114 pounds for this match.

STECHER POSTS GUARANTEE FOR LEWIS CONTEST

The posting of a $5000 guarantee with the State Athletic commission by both Joe Stecher and Ed ("Strangler") Lewis, claimants of the heavyweight wrestling championship of the world to settle the question of who is rightly entitled to the title has added renewed interest to the Pesek-Stecher bout in the Olympic auditorium Wednesday night.

Lewis is in training at Garden Grove at the residence of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Weaver.

While Stecher, it was announced, had signed to meet Lewis regardless of whether his match with Pesek resulted in a win, lose or draw, a match between Stecher and the "Strangler" would mean little if Pesek should pin Stecher's shoulders to the mat in the meantime.

Along this line the Stecher-Pesek match, according to Lou Daro, who signed Stecher yesterday, will have no bearing on the Stecher-Lewis encounter. The Stecher-Lewis battle should settle for once and all the controversy which has been raging for over a year between the two wrestlers and will be to all intents a "grudge" fight, Daro says.

The Stecher-Lewis war got its start about a year ago when Wayne "Big" Munn threw Lewis out of the ring in a championship fight. Lewis was then heavyweight wrestling champion and the title passed to Munn. Lewis, however, claimed that Munn had fouled him and refused to part with his diamond belt emblematic of the championship.

Munn was later beaten by Stanislaus Zbyszko who in turn lost to Stecher. Since that time Stecher and Lewis have both claimed the title.

Sailing in serene waters for the remaining two weeks of its season, the indoor baseball club representing Santa Ana Post No. 131, American Legion, it all but "in" with the championship of the first annual Orange County league.

The World War veterans faltered a little last Friday and now hold but a single game advantage over the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce and Orange but the schedule is all to the leader's liking for tonight and a week from this evening and they should breeze into title harbor unless another broadside is fired into their rigging.

Brea, waging a wicked battle with Olive for cellar honors, is scheduled to face the Legionnaires at Lincoln park here tonight and the locals should find this affair a little more than a workout.

The Chamber of Commerce will have tougher going, traveling to meet Garden Grove. The Chili-peppers are a hard aggregation to upset on their home grounds.

Orange plays Olive at Orange and Anaheim goes to Laguna Beach in other County league pastimes.

The Legion gets another comparatively easy assignment in the league's closing games August 27, being billed to face Laguna Beach here while the Chamber of Commerce battles Anaheim at Anaheim. Orange goes to Garden Grove next week and Brea and Olive hook up at Orange.

If the Legionnaires win their championship, they will join hands with the Chamber of Commerce and enter the semi-final playoffs for the Southern California indoor baseball title. Arlington or Whittier probably will be their first opponent.

TIGER FLOWERS TURNS BACK GREB'S ASSAULT, HOLDS TO WORLD MIDDLEWEIGHT TITLE

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Tiger Flowers is still world's middleweight champion.

He retained the title in taking the decision over Harry Greb in 15 rounds of rough and tumble fighting in Madison Square Garden last night.

The 15,000 fight fans present did not regard the two to one verdict of Judges Mathison, Barnes and Crowley with favor. Flowers had the best of seven rounds, Greb won six and two were an even break.

It was a Greb audience that watched the fight. They came ready for a spectacle of the old time Greb fury. They saw plenty of rough stuff, but gallant though it was, Greb's assault lacked the power of the Greb of other battles.

Flowers, on the other hand, fought a consistent fight, and although forced by the Pittsburgh boy to alter his attack, each time Greb's rushes and wrestling became maddening, he managed to regain his form and took the rounds in order of second, fifth, eighth, ninth, tenth, twelfth and thirteenth, slowly hammering back Greb's assaults.

If the runner is stealing second with the pitch, in other words has started on the way before the battery error has been committed, he receives credit for the stolen base.

In all such instances the battery error is also charged against either the pitcher or catcher, the player at fault.

Should the runner be "flat-footed" until the battery error is committed, then starts and reaches the succeeding base in safety, he is not credited with a stolen base.

HELEN RETURNS TO REGISTER AT U. C.

BERKELEY, Calif., Aug. 20.—Helen Willis was nearing Berkeley today to become a school girl again.

Her father, Dr. C. A. Willis, Oakland physician, said the American tennis star would arrive this afternoon and go immediately to the University of California for registration.

"It's going to be all school and very little tennis for a while," Dr. Willis said. "Helen has to finish her junior year and will major in art. There won't be much serious tennis the rest of this year."

The girl who won the smiles and plaudits of France and England will be greeted only informally on her arrival, her father said.

Bud Taylor Off For Title Bout

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 20.—Bud Taylor, 35000 weathered as the result of his fight with Dixie Lee Hood in Olympic auditorium last Wednesday night, left Los Angeles this morning for Chicago where he will go into training for his bout September 17 with Charley ("Phil") Rosenberg, bantamweight champion of the world.

MULLINS FAILS TO ANSWER JACK DEFI

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Paddy Mullins, manager of Harry Willis, thus far has failed to come forward with $150,000 to cover the money Jack Dempsey announced he had posted as a side bet for a bout with Harry Willis.

Mullins charged Dempsey was bluffing and said "we'll post our money immediately if Dempsey will sign to fight Harry Willis before Sept. 23," but as Dempsey has an appointment with Gene Tunney Sept. 23, Mullins' words were viewed largely as a bit of "kidding."

Many fans here were of the opinion that Dempsey's challenge would never be accepted.

CANDIDATES TO SPEAK BEFORE EX-SERVICEMEN

Candidates for every office in the county are invited to attend an open meeting of the Orange County Veterans' Non-Partisan League, scheduled for Tuesday night in the American Legion home, on Birch street.

Members of the newly-formed political league, representing the soldier vote in Santa Ana, are eager to hear the candidates speak, according to a statement made by M. B. Wellington, chairman.

The league went on record recently to the effect that it would not endorse any one candidate for office but that its members would be asked to study each race carefully and vote for the candidate best suited for the position in their estimation.

Regular business of the league will be disposed of as soon as possible after the meeting is called and then candidates will be given the floor for the remainder of the evening, it was said.

Each candidate will be allotted several minutes to address the voters.

Approximately 400 veterans and their wives and families are expected to attend the meeting.

La Barba Signs To Meet Brown In Vernon Bout

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 20.—Fidel La Barba, flyweight champion of the world, signed yesterday in Chicago to meet Newsboy Brown in a ten-round decision bout at Vernon October 5.

The match will not be a title fight. The contract calls for the fighters to weigh not less than 114 pounds and not more than 118.

The Vernon fight will make the second meeting of the pair, a previous bout in Hollywood, shortly after Brown first came west, ending in a draw.

The last of the great classics of the English racing season, the St. Leger, will be run at Doncaster September 8. In this connection it is interesting to recall that the St. Leger was first run 150 years ago, in the year of American independence. The event was named after a certain old Col. St. Leger, who at that time lived at Park Hill, Doncaster; it was he who suggested the race, but little did he and his friends think that they were founding a turf event which should assume such an importance. For many years past the crowd gathered for the St. Leger is second only in point of numbers for a flat-racing event to that gathered at Epsom. From all parts of the United Kingdom special trains bring tens of thousands of racing enthusiasts to Doncaster for the great event.

gave but little thought to baseball during the winter until the Chicago White Sox came along with a fancy offer.

The injury to Ike Davis that kept him from reporting at all, and inability of Moe Berg to get away until late in June, made it necessary that the White Sox fortify themselves with a veteran shortstop.

Scott accepted the offer, reported and was in such good shape that Manager Collins started him as the regular shortstop. When he began to slow up, Bill Hunnefeld arrived sufficiently to step right into his shoes.

As a member of the Chicago White Sox, it looked as if Scott was in a position to bank on a win, place or show part of the 1926 world series money.

That seemed like a pretty good break for a player who figured he was through, getting a season's salary and a possible fat bonus.

ANOTHER SERIES POSSIBLE
In the meantime Manager Jack Hendricks of Cincinnati was having his troubles relative to showing stop. No one had quite satisfied the leader of the Reds at that position.

With Cincinnati furnishing the surprise of the season, showing the way almost from the start, Hendricks apparently decided he needed some reserve strength at shortstop.

Seeing that Chicago had Scott on the bench and that the club had two other good men in Hunnefeld and Berg, Hendricks opened negotiations with the White Sox that resulted in Scott coming to Cincinnati.

He broke in most auspiciously, only to have an injured ankle force him out of the lineup after playing a few games.

Unquestionably the Cincinnati club is a strong pennant contender. It has a great chance to cop. If it does, Scott will take part in his seventh world series. Not so bad.

That a club is no stronger than its substitutes has long been an accepted theory in baseball.

First string strength is most essential but no major league ball club can hope to play a schedule of 154 games without having some of its regulars forced out of the line-up

GRIDDER STARS ON DIAMOND

STANDINGS

When Grant Gillis young football star of the University of Alabama, threw that 55-yard pass at the Pasadena Tournament of Roses against the University of Washington, his name was on the lips of hundreds of thousands of Americans.

That he will win even greater glory on the baseball diamond is the prediction of Johnny Dobbs, manager of the Birmingham Barons of the Southern Association, one of the oldest of the circuit's mentors. This despite the fact that Gillis has been in fast company only a few weeks.

"I believe he will become a greater player than Sewell," was the tribute Dobbs paid the young southern collegian. And Dobbs is looked on as well qualified to discuss the merits of the two.

Dobbs brought Sewell from Alabama to the New Orleans baseball club. Sewell jumped right in and within a few weeks was leading the league shortstops in virtually every department of the game.

The sudden death of Ray Chapman, shortstop of the Cleveland Indians, resulted in the Indian pilot drawing upon New Orleans for Sewell, with what result every baseball fan in the country knows.

Playing at short for Birmingham, under the guiding hand of Dobbs, Gillis has already won a permanent berth.

"He has large hands, a fine throwing arm and is a fairly good hitter," said Dobbs. In one of the early games of the season Gillis cleaned the bases with a home run, and more recently started the batting spree that sent Martina, Pelican star hurler, to the showers.

America's first golf champion was Willie Dunn, who in late years has laid out more golf courses and taught the fine points of the game to more notables than any other golf professional in the world.

SAN FRANCISCO—Don Newmeyer, star tackle of the late Andy Smith's champion Bears of 1921, on the bench will coach at a local high school this season.

SHORT SHOTS
NEWPORT, R. I.—Advance won the schooner cup in the annual Astor cup races of the New York Yacht club. Harry Payne Whitney's Vanitie finished first but lost on a time allowance. Fifteen schooners and nine sloops took part.

CHICAGO—Achille Bell and Midget Smith, New York bantamweights, fought a sizzling ten-round draw here last night. Ever Hammer, veteran lightweight who is attempting a comeback, defeated Ted Blatt, St. Paul, in another ten rounder.

SAN FRANCISCO—Pete Kilduff, veteran second baseman of the Seals and former Brooklyn Robin, has been sold to the Minneapolis club of the American association. He leaves at once.

SAN FRANCISCO—Cal McVey, 76, captain and manager of the Cincinnati Reds in 1879 and later with the Boston and Chicago National league clubs, died here yesterday after an illness of several months. During the height of his baseball career he received one of the highest salaries in baseball at that time, $3,000 a year.

Ford Uses One Gallon of Gasoline on 56 Mile Trip
Pukwana, S. Dak.—An amazing test was made which astonished the eyes and senses of an automobile owner. It showed that his Ford ran 56 miles on a single gallon of gasoline after it had been equipped with one of Mr. J. A. Stransky's marvelous devices. The invention is made for all cars and can be installed by anyone in five minutes. J. A. Stransky, K555 Stransky Bldg., Pukwana, S. C. R. FURR,
Clerk of the Board of Trustees.Political Announcement

FOR J. C. JOPLIN

"I am going before the people of Orange county asking for re-election," said County Treasurer J. C. Joplin in an interview, "strictly upon the record of the office. The books of the office have been accurately kept, and have been examined every year by experts hired by the county grand jury. Courtesy and fairness to everybody and to all parts of the county have always been maintained in my office, and surely no change in that regard will take place during the next four years if I am re-elected."

Joplin said that he wants taxpayers to know that he has used every possible precaution to give every part of the county a square deal.

"Under the state law," he said, "surplus money in the county treasury can be loaned out to banks that put up proper security. I could confine these loans to a few banks if I wanted to do so, but I see it right to get the money distributed well over Orange county, so that every part can get some benefit from these loans. At the present time I have loans out to 32 banks in this county, and not a dollar to any bank outside the county. From these loans the county is getting $44,079.58 per year. I consider this good business."

Little girl suffers five years from unusual skin trouble
relieves and heals

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 9.—"Sometime ago my little girl's whole body became dry and scaly. The skin where her shoes were laced and under her toes cracked open, which made it very painful. We were advised to keep her skin soft with a good cold cream or pure lard and for five years I have spent many hours and used numerous half-pound cans of cold cream, but to no avail. As she grew older the trouble gradually became worse until I remembered that when she was a baby I had cured a bad case of eczema by using Resinol Soap and Ointment.

So for three weeks she has had no other sores on her skin and I cannot begin to tell you how much improvement has been made. Her feet are almost normal and the rest of her body is better than it has been for years. Up to this time I had never been able to bathe her often than was absolutely necessary, but now a bath with your wonderful soap actually makes her skin moist and rosy, whereas before, soap and water made her look and feel parched and dry even after a liberal application of grease." (Signed) Mrs. Edwina Vandercloot, 1223 Alden St., N. E.

Like many other necessities of life, the best lard is cheapest. Not in cents per pound, but in actual results obtained. Cudahy's Puritan Leaf Lard goes further and produces better results. It is the only open topped kettle rendered 100% leaf lard sold extensively in Southern California. There are many brands sold trade named similar to "Gold Leaf Brand," but they do not necessarily contain any leaf lard whatever.

S. P. PROGRAM
FOR YEAR TOLD
BY L. B. VALLA

Faster trains to and from points in the east, opening of hundreds of miles of new main line track and placing in service millions of dollars worth of new railroad equipment all are part of the Southern Pacific's program for this year, according to L. B. Valla, district freight and passenger agent, stationed here, who has just returned from San Francisco, where he attended a two-day meeting of freight and traffic officials, gathered from every part of the west.

The new 45-hour trains between Chicago and the Pacific coast, which are to be inaugurated next November, will be the finest the company ever has operated. New equipment is being built especially for these trains, including 11 dining cars of unique type. These trains cut off five hours from the present running time.

New Line Near Ready
The first of the Southern Pacific's new main line, the Cascades line of the Shasta route, between San Francisco and Portland, will be ready for operation early in September. In addition to cutting the distance between the two cities, the Cascades line opens up a new empire of virgin farm and timber land for settlement and development.

In Arizona, work on the new line, which will place Phoenix, capital of the state, on a main line between California and the east, rapidly is nearing completion and will be ready for service this year.

"During the last five years," said Mr. Valla, "Southern Pacific has expended more than $250,000,000 for construction, equipment and facilities, with which to keep up with the growing demands of the west. This year, the company has placed orders for 13 three-cylinder Southern Pacific type locomotives, costing approximately $2,000,000; 500 drop bottom gondola cars and 1100 standard box cars, costing $3,225,000, in addition to the 5041 refrigerator cars ordered last December by the Pacific Fruit Express company, in which Southern Pacific has a half interest.

Keeps Pace With Needs
"More new construction has been undertaken this year by Southern Pacific than by any other railroad in the country. The large expenditures indicate the company's earnest effort to keep pace with the transportation needs of the territories it serves."

More than 50 officials were in attendance at the San Francisco conference. The Santa Ana official said that reports from the company's officers throughout the United States indicate a general interest in the new 65-hour trains to be put in service this fall.

EMPLOYEES OF GAS COMPANY GATHER

More than 350 persons, employees of the Southern Counties Gas company and their families, enjoyed a social evening in the large, new garage of the gas company at First and Minnie street Wednesday night. The meeting was one of the regular monthly sessions of the Efficiency club of the gas company. The club was formed some time ago for the betterment of the service of the company and employees gather every month for a social evening and to discuss various plans for bettering the gas service.

Wednesday night was devoted entirely to social pursuits. John Ott, district superintendent of the gas company, and Fred Merker, president of the Efficiency club, were in charge of the program. They were assisted by Thomas Allender, secretary-treasurer of the club. Dancing was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

Alaska Enters Prosperous Era

SEATTLE, Aug. 20.—Alaska is entering an era of rejuvenated prosperity, in the opinion of Charles D. Garfield, secretary of the Alaska department of the Seattle chamber of commerce. Garfield has just returned from a tour of the territory.

Here are a few of the factors which Garfield said will go toward bringing "good times" back to Alaska:

Development is being speeded on gigantic placer mining projects at Fairbanks.

One of the biggest salmon packs in Alaska's history is now in progress with an estimated 1926 production of 6,000,000 cases.

Oil development activities have been given momentum, two heavily financed companies now being actively engaged in drilling.

Attendance At Schools Grows

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 20.—Increase of 7.4 per cent in California high school and 2.73 per cent in elementary school average daily attendance is shown in statistics issued by Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction.

The average daily attendance for the term ended in June was 733,421, an increase of 27,268 over the preceding term.

Elementary school attendance increased 15,294, while the gain in high school attendance was 11,511. In junior attendance, there was an increase of 463.

Innocent, Says American Held In Mexico Plot

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 17.—Protesting his innocence and claiming to have been thrown in jail here as a Mexican revolutionary and his expensive closed car seized because he drove through La Mesa Sunday on his way to the Imperial valley with a Mexican laborer, F. D. Brassell, an American, who gave his occupation as Los Angeles wool and insurance broker, yesterday obtained his liberty under $1000 bonds and was seeking the return of his automobile.

Brassell declared he was entirely ignorant of the affair. His Mexican companion, who later was removed to the marine base, where other rebel suspects are held pending trial, also disclaimed knowledge of the attempted revolt.

Preliminary hearing of the more than 100 men jailed in the alleged insurrection will be held in San Diego, September 3, and not in Los Angeles, as previously announced, according to federal officials.

New Source Of Ethyl Is Found

OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 20.—Germany leads the world in the production of ethyl gasoline, but California sea water may become the foremost source of this fuel, which is derived mainly from bromine of ocean water.

The governmental experimental steamer Ethyl, now working off the California coast to determine if bromine can be extracted in paying quantities, has been producing approximately 100,000 pounds a charge of the work. They claim the California sea water, especially off the southern coast, carries a high content of the liquid element.

DOBBLIN STAGES BIG COMEBACK IN U. S.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Dobblin staging "comeback!"

Figures just released here by a prominent agricultural service corporation, gleaned from a national survey, reveal that the horse not only is not disappearing from the sphere of usefulness, but actually is multiplying his activities.

Quoting Wayne Dinsmore, secretary of the Horse Association of America, the survey declared: "The motor truck is the only thing on long hauls where speed is essential. But on short hauls, it isn't practical. For the dairy, laundry, bakery and other industries, the horse still is the best means of transportation."

"Speaking of tractors not eating farm products, they eat something which has to be purchased, at a profit, with the fruit of farm labor, gasoline. Oil, of course, also has to be supplied."

"Neither have yet been successfully raised on the farm in an available state. But it is easy to grow corn, oats and hay."

A Chicago concern, marketing more harness than any other firm in the country, reported an increase of 80 per cent in sales for 1925 over those for 1922.

There are 22,266,387 horses in the United States today, the survey disclosed.

NEWS from ORANGE COUNTY

WESTMINSTER STREET WORK FINISHED SOON

WESTMINSTER, Aug. 20.—Men in the business district today watched with interest the last bit of concrete poured and smoothed out at the railroad tracks.

Work on this half-mile strip on both sides of Westminster boulevard, from the railroad to Golden West avenue, was started July 15. Nine days were consumed in the actual laying of the concrete, the rest of the time being taken up in scraping, leveling and making the roadbed firm.

After weeks of gingerly walking the narrow plank from one side of the street to another, Westminster pedestrians still have 21 days to wait for the concrete to sufficiently set so as to be open to traffic. Passing motorists, however, will at once be released from the zigzag detours required on account of the men and trucks employed in the work.

Residents living on the side streets in this area, still are touring the fields to reach the boulevard.

W. J. Cozad and Dr. Richard Foster, president and secretary, respectively, of the local chamber of commerce, are actively interested in the growth of this community. The chamber, with this off its hands, will proceed at once with further improvements.

For some time, a lighting district has been considered, but on account of the low assessed valuation, about $40,000, in the proposed area, this has practically been abandoned for the time being. However, an effort will be made to secure the merchants and places of business to install bright lights in front of their buildings.

A clean-up and paint-up campaign will be started and a joint chamber of commerce and library building is seen in the not far distant future.

The local library, during most of the year, has a much larger circulation than towns supporting libraries and no trouble is anticipated in getting the community aroused to the need of a building to answer the growing demands of the children and book-loving adults here. The library at present is open two afternoons of the week in Old Fellows' hall, where shelf room is limited.

Completion Of Highway Strip To Be Observed

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 20.—Tentative plans for celebrating the completion of the state highway between Newport Beach and Laguna Beach were outlined at the meeting of the Huntington Beach board yesterday.

It is planned to stage a celebration September 15, on the Huntington Beach pier, with a barbecue later at Laguna Beach. City officials and chamber of commerce officials from various Southland communities will be invited to be present.

A committee consisting of Eddie Suter was appointed by President C. P. Patton to secure data regarding mail service between Huntington Beach and inland cities.

Fullerton Fire Officers Named

FULLERTON, Aug. 20.—At the annual election of officers of the Fullerton fire department yesterday night, all of the old officers were re-elected, as follows: Roy R. Davis, chief; W. B. Potter, first assistant; Frank Treadwell, second assistant; Grover Walters, president; Ed Engman, vice president; Lawrence Jones, secretary and treasurer.

Following the election of the officers, a reception was held by the firemen. Short talks were made by Mayor H. H. Croke, Roy Davis, Trustees Emanuel Smith and Bert Annin, R. A. Marsden, L. P. Drake, J. H. Gardner, Mont Jackson and Joe Clever.

ATTRACTED BY BOOKLET

Read of Other Women Who Found Health

Brooklyn, New York.—Mrs. G. Hegmann of 35 Central Ave., was in a run-down condition and could not do her housework. She took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got well.

Her story is not an unusual one. Thousands of women find themselves in a similar condition at some time in their lives. "I found your advertisement in my letter box," wrote Mrs. Hegmann, "and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got well."

There are women in your state—perhaps in your town—who have written letters similar to this one telling how much Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped them.

2 Oil Wells In Old H. B. Area Finished

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 20.—The Standard Oil company has completed two new wells in the old area at Huntington Beach, according to official reports. The wells are the No. A-32, drilled to 2783 feet, with an initial output of 170 barrels a day of 18.5 deg. gravity oil, and the No. B-48, drilled to 4442 feet, and producing 146 barrels a day of 24.3 deg. gravity oil.

LAGUNA FIESTA ATTRACTS CROWDS

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 20.—Blazing with lights, the fiesta grounds have been filled with good natured crowds. The fiesta which closes Saturday night, is under the control of The Community club. In addition to the big tent, where the booths have been placed for the display of merchandise, there is a stage for the dancers, singers and actors. Outside of the big tent there is a "Midway," where the children can ride on the merry-go-round and where both children and grown-ups can see the many concessions which have been installed.

There is a country store run by a committee from the club. There is a splendid art exhibit in charge of the marine painter, Frank W. Cuprien.

The town is decorated with strings of colored lights and banners.

The club members are in charge of the various booths and as a prize is to be given for the handsomest booth, there is much good natured rivalry for first place.

There is a popularity contest in full swing and the winner will be crowned queen of the fiesta on Saturday night. The Community club is also giving a $250 diamond ring to the winner.

The crowning is to be made a scene of much beauty, under the direct supervision of Mrs. Joseph S. Thurston. The entertainment is in charge of Mrs. Edward M. DeAhna.

Kensella, who was riding in the rear seat of the Williams machine, received cuts about the face and arms.

'BLONDE SAINT' LAGUNA BEACH SET REALISTIC

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 20.—Realism, unadulterated, has entered into the building of the Italian village at Emerald bay, where "The Blonde Saint" is being "filmed by the Marion Fairfax Picture company. Not a detail has been left out that will enhance the charm of the village. A village street is shown just above a sea wall and on up the hills rise other by-ways, all with their artistic and adorable houses, like a bit of the Mediterranean islands set on Laguna's shore. A village church, built on wonderful lines, faces the ocean and high on the hills are the ruins of an ancient Roman temple, the columns crumbling away. Over on a point of land that overhangs the Pacific is a replica of a splendid Italian chateau. All these buildings have been built of concrete and roofed with old Italian red tiles. The balconies that overhang the sea are built on lines that seem to belong to the spot where the house stands.

In the village, the fishermen's nets hang on the sea wall and, at the edge of the sea, lie the fishing boats with their green sails, looking like an Edgar Alvin Payne painting of one of Italy's fishing villages. Great fish baskets, brought from Italy for this picture, are thrown carelessly but artfully, in just the proper spot where their beauty will stand out. Strings of red peppers and garlic buds hang above the doors and windows. The doors are splendid examples of the Italian idea of what a door should be. Solid looking, weather-beaten, browned with age, they are rare specimens of what the movie people can do when the producer is a man of courage and possesses artistic perception. The door steps are the last word in antiquity. They might have been lying in their mortar for thousands of years, so old do they look. Most of the stones are of the pinkish color so generally found in Southern Italian stone work and they are filled with hollows, as though the feet of thousands had worn them down.

The Standard will call its new wells on this property the San Gabriel No. 1 and 2, succeeding the Standard No. 2 well of the Standard Oil company, which came in recently at 1200 barrels of oil daily, definitely proving that an oil structure underlies the Seal Beach area.

The locations spotted for wells are to be designated by successive numbers. The Standard holds the land under lease from the San Gabriel River Development company, and the Alamitos Land and Water company, but for the sake of brevity will call the wells by the name of the first company only.

SHELL'S $80,000 PIPE LINE FROM BREA FIELD TO BE COMPLETED SOON

BREA, Aug. 20.—Completion of one of the biggest pipe line construction projects in Southern California since the Pan American line over the Ridge from the Kern county fields was finished, will occur within the next three weeks when Robertson and Company, contractors, who are building the Shell company's gasoline line from Brea, through Santa Fe Springs to Signal Hill, lay the last length of pipe in the big line. When completed, the pipe line will total 23 miles in length, and will cost the Shell approximately $80,000.

Half of the new line, from Santa Fe Springs to Signal Hill, is completed, and in operation. The Robertson crews are now working on the Brea to Santa Fe Springs section. The Brea end of the line will be constructed of three-inch pipe, enlarging to four-inch at Signal Hill.

The Shell is building the new line to carry gasoline, this commodity in the past having been transported through the crude oil lines, necessitating refinery treatment after the passage. Increase in gasoline output in the Brea fields is partly responsible for the new line, although it has been projected for some time, because of the cost involved in treating the gasoline carried through the crude oil lines.

NORTH FAVORS CALLING NEW PORT ELECTION

For the purpose of ascertaining the sentiment of residents of northern Orange county toward the calling of another harbor bond election at the meeting of the county supervisors, August 24, about 125 business men and their families gathered in the McFarland cafe, Fullerton, last night at the call of Supervisor William Schumacher.

Following dinner, discussion of the proposition was taken up, with prominent and representative citizens of all communities concerned in the northern part of the county speaking. The discussion culminated in a motion proposed by Ralph McFadden, member of the harbor committee, that the group favor the calling of an election. This was passed with little opposition.

H. H. Crooke, president of the Fullerton city board of trustees, presided.

Prominent among those who spoke to the gathering were Judge E. J. Marks, Jack Crizer, manager of the Placentia Orange Grower's association, H. H. Hale, John Tuffree, James Tuffree, A. Nelson and Tom McFadden.

Defendants are Fannie Hurst, author, Famous Players Lasky corporation, and Liberty Weekly, Inc.

When A Joke Is Not A Joke

COUNTY FAIR HATS BEGIN TO APPEAR

Six Weeks From S. A. Enough

By The Rambler

See-Sawing up and down Fourth street did glim Friend W. Richardson, governor of our commonwealth who knows that in some instances a joke is not a joke at all, especially when it's on him. . . . The Sacramento politician was in Santa Ana for an address recently and while he was occupied with other matters and his chauffeur, if he has one, was engaged with business other than driving a car, some practical joker must have placarded the Richardson automobile with a "Young for Governor" sticker. At any rate, I am told, the rear of the machine thus was decorated as it left St. Ann's Inn on the memorable occasion of the governor's visit to our fair hamlet. . . . Saw Jack McDonough whose rise to pugilistic fame was cut short back in the '90's by the knockout punch of Kid McCoy. McDonough later became Tex Rickard's referee in his Goldfield days but Jack now is a peaceful citizen of Huntington Beach, content to let the ring fight his own battles. . . . Saw politicians hurrying and scurrying on all fronts and did think, "Thank heavens! It will all be over, the primaries, at least, in just a little more than a week." And if I feel glad, I wonder how the politicians must feel about it. . . . Saw "Stormy" Gordon, the young automobile salesman, who resembles in appearance the late Wallace Reid, the matinee idol. Gordon was teaching his youngsters, Billy Jr., some tricks and apparently enjoying the part. . . . Saw Charles Kelly, the druggist, and Charles did look as fat and easy as ever after an extended automobile journey. . . . Saw Willard Bowman, the author of numerous communications to newspapers, and Willard had blossomed out in one of those 10-gallon hats publicizing the coming Orange County Fair. . . . Saw Al Lester, a young man, who went to Washington to live but found six weeks away from Santa Ana was enough. . . .

When we were a barefoot lad in Santa Ana a good many years ago, the most thrilling moment recorded was that experienced on a certain early fall evening when Fifth street blinked luridly with the gas torches of a street carnival and reverberated with the discordant brasses of a weary band.

home on his property. The building will cost about $3500. Mr. Burkholder has been at Costa Mesa about a year.

Then the automobile suddenly began cutting ditches. It careened across the driveway, crashed into the garage door and tore it off, leaving the Parkers still to make "that perfect trip."

One Good Term Deserves Another

George Jeffrey

—HAS REPRESENTED ALL PARTS OF HIS DISTRICT IMPARTIALLY. HAS SAFEGUARDED THE INTERESTS OF HIS DISTRICT FROM WITHIN AND WITHOUT. HAS STOOD FOR PROGRESS, WITH ECONOMICAL ADMINISTRATION. HAS WORKED EVERLASTINGLY FOR THE FIFTH DISTRICT.

His record is the very best argument for his re-election at the primary election, August 31, 1926. The interests of the Fifth district demand that you

VOTE FOR JEFFREY

—That sounds like making a pun from an old saying, but it is meant seriously. It is another way of saying that any public official who has served conscientiously and efficiently should be kept in office. He should be re-elected not merely as a reward for faithful service, but as a matter of good business.

—The fifth supervisorial district will find that it is good business to re-elect the present supervisor, who has served the district faithfully and with ability during the last four years. This advertisement is written and published to show voters of the fifth district why they would be hurting their own interests if they failed to retain Supervisor Jeffrey.

I know a man. . . I concluded the first of these fiddle-faddle things with that phrase last week and I will begin there this week.

I know a man who makes a business of pulling teeth. He dresses like a senator and walks like every street was Pennsylvania avenue. Formerly he operated in a large city and had a very high class clientele. That is to say, the members of his clientele thought themselves high class and the doctor, for many years, agreed with them.

But finally he began to take stock of his highly cultured patrons. He began with the account book. He noticed that the men and women most able to pay hadn't paid and the men and women the least able to pay had paid, or paid part at least. So he set out to collect some of those bills, but he didn't get very far.

The highly cultured friends, who were docile as a lamb in his dental chair, were lions in their offices. They wouldn't touch anything to do with him. The bill was not an instant one, so why worry about it. But even in the life of a dentist there comes a time when the money must come in or the dentist goes out, more often than not, out of business.

This dentist decided to do some pulling. He pulled his stakes, folded his nice white tent, literally, of course, and left that man's town. He threw the book of unpaid bills away. He took a new lease on life in Santa Ana. He no longer sought the exclusive trade of the big-wigs. He was content to pull the teeth and crown the molars of clerks and stenographers—and reporters.

He feels better. He still is able to maintain the Pennsylvania avenue rail and hold back his head in pride. He won't remember the reporter who one noon, came to his office in pain. He stopped the pain and the reporter listened to his story. But that was several years ago. Still, one can never tell when a reporter and a dentist will meet.

Take this poetry business now, I know a professional poet. With only the slightest provocation he can sit down and write a "poem." That is to say, with only a mere hint, he begins to rhyme words. He is hailed by his friends as a "poet of genius." I think he must have been the vaudeville orator or the salutarian when he graduated from high school. He enjoys the plaudits of the throng, and yet I can't endure him more than 15 minutes at a sitting.

Rhyming words is his only asset in the poetry industry. Examine his "works" and you cannot find one finely expressed thought; not one phrase to excite sympathy, or turn a tear; not one line to bring back memories or stir the ashes of the past.

Mostly he concerns himself with boost stuff. Sometimes he fits the word "well" to rhyme with another word of a more torrid nature. He speaks of the wind as if it were to "wind" a clock. He doesn't mind stringing "plough" to match "rough"—what's the difference, it's poetical license.

And yet that fellow is the champion of his friends and gets over with what has been described as a big wow. He is hard to figure out. I think what he lacks is finesse. In my opinion, one does not have to attend a college or a "finishing" school to acquire finesse. Adoption of a policy of kindness and good will, with a subordination of self, will help a lot toward it. I haven't got it, but I can recognize it in others.

I guess that fellow will continue through life with his quasi-rhymes. I guess he will get a lot of satisfaction out of it. He should, it's his life. But I can't help but wonder when all the votes are counted in the celestial primary, whether he will attempt to teach St. Peter the sciences of strophes without aggravation. I can't stand that fellow. I think it's a shame that a man with his ability to make things fit isn't "drafted" for some high political place, like minister to Point Barrow or the Suez canal.

HOOVER SPEAKS TO FARMERS ON WAR RECOVERY

CALDWELL, Ida., Aug. 20.—America's recovery from the World war has been complete with the exception of agriculture, Secretary of Commerce Hoover declared in an address at Idaho's fourth annual egg day celebration. In describing America's economic rehabilitation, Secretary Hoover said: "In no other nation and in no case in the history of the world has there been such a measure of recovery as ours from as great a disaster."

"When the great war ended more than seven years ago," he continued, "this country, with all those of the civilized world, was faced with the great task of reconstruction. Today, and for the whole of the last three years, all of our working people have been employed at a higher real wage than ever before witnessed."

We have less poverty, and we have grown to higher standards of living and comfort than ever before the war. We have grown in national wealth by greater sums than ever in our history and to greater wealth and comfort than ever before in the history of the world.

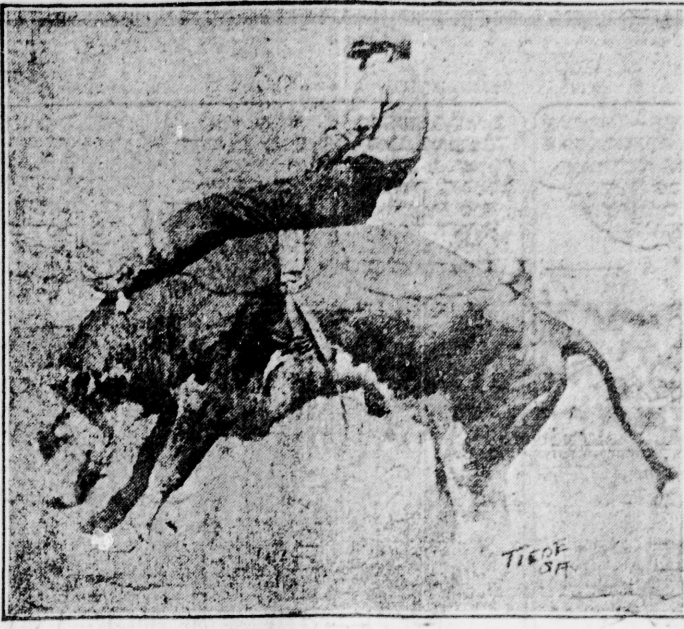

"It is true that our agricultural industries have lagged in recovery behind our industrial population, but nevertheless agriculture has made substantial progress from the depths of its demoralization. Sincere men of our nation are struggling constantly to add to the measures already taken which will overcome this final gap in our recovery. And I am confident it will be overcome."

The secretary, after reviewing the steps in reconstruction progress, including restoration of transportation, the elimination of unemployment, the balancing of the national budget, reduction of taxes, the restoration of foreign trade and the elimination of waste in industry, declared "we have had the most difficult question of the settlement of debts owed to our government by the former allies."

He added that the debts are "obligations to the American taxpayer and we have refused to cancel them."

Elimination of nation-wide booms and slumps continued to be one of the most fundamental problems in the daily life of the nation, Secretary Hoover asserted, but he expressed the belief that through expansion of credit facilities, enlargement of dissemination of market information, expansion of foreign trade and improvement of relations between employers and employees, "we have gone far on the road to permanent stability in this country."

Appreciation of Literature Aim Of Booksellers

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—One of the old world vehicles of bringing literature into fuller appreciation by the American public has been launched as the American Booksellers' association.

This organization is working to bring into closer contact the widely scattered retail outlets and the three or four geographical groups of publishers.

Through this means the bookseller will be better trained and a wider range of literature placed before the public.

The association here is patterned in many respects after Le Maison du Livre, in Paris. The latter organization which stands on a square condemned by the city of Paris and given over to its use, maintains a centralized office through which all booksellers make contact with all publishers and through its reference department aids in the finding and perpetuation of all worthy books.

Much of this work already has been started by the association which has extended its activities to adding booksellers in using the reference volumes now extant and co-operates with the National association of Book Publishers and General Federation of Women's clubs in maintaining at least one university course for booksellers.

The need for the work was illustrated by the association in comparison of the business in this country with Germany. While about 12,000 titles were published here last year, Germany with one-third the population of the United States, absorbed three times that number of titles.

Famous Riders to Be Seen In Galaxy of Exciting Rodeo Tricks, Stunts

Much valuable Orange county dust will be kicked up tomorrow and Sunday afternoons by some of the best known horsemen in this wild and woolly West, as the second annual Irvine ranch roundup is run off at the corner of Newport boulevard and South Main street.

With such saddle veterans as Key Dunn, Hippy Burmeister, Andy Juarez, Tommy Scarlet, Tommy Sutton, Dusty Ball, Noah Henry, Lloyd Sanders and others in the scramble for prize money and racing glory, some roundup history looks probable. These famed riders have won their spurs in the heat of such conflicts as the great Pendleton roundup and the Cheyenne Frontier days provide. The boys know their ropes, local riders aver.

The roundup program for both afternoons offer plenty of spectacular performance. There is broncho riding, calf-tying contests, contests in milking wild cows, which is said to be one of the most ungentle arts a roundup organizer ever devised; daily feature roping contests, exhibition riding and greased pig contest for boys. Both days have their quotas of exciting races, free-for-all at every distance and special events, like the cow pony races and the Shetland pony events.

The half-mile race for Orange horses, competing for the Santa Ana Business Men's purse, will be held Saturday afternoon. Sunday afternoon, the racing will culminate in the big Irvine derby, at a mile.

This event is a free-for-all and is expected to offer the hottest competition of the entire roundup.

Stunt flying by Eddie Martin, from his nearby airport, will enliven proceedings in the upper strata while the dust is flying below.

A portion of the seating area will be covered and the seats reserved by number, the roundup committee has announced.

THERE'S NO REASON FOR CHANGE

Stands Up Under Close Inspection

All these years the records of J. C. Joplin's office have stood minute annual inspection from grand jury experts.

And his office has been found shipshape.

Why, then, change Treasurers?

J. C. Joplin Has Given Faithful Service to Orange County

He has handled millions upon millions of dollars for this county, and this county has never lost a dollar by it. Why, then, change?

The integrity of a lifetime—old-fashioned plain honesty—marks every action and every move by this honest pioneer. Why make any change when you have a man like J. C. Joplin on the job?

Make No Change In This Office

J. C. Joplin has seen to it that every community of this county has had a square deal in the distribution of loans of county money. The law provides that the treasurer can loan county money at a rate of interest fixed by a committee of public officials. These loans have been distributed fairly among thirty-two banks of this county. This money helps to carry on business in your community. The county gets its interest. In the past your county treasurer, J. C. Joplin, has collected $44,079.58 on these loans. That's good business for Orange County.

It is to the interest of every community in Orange County to keep J. C. Joplin right where he is.

SAN BERNARDINO—Special crews will be at work within a week in construction of fire trails, telephone lines and lookout stations in the San Bernardino National forest, Supervisor S. A. Nash Boulevard declared after announcing receipt from Washington of a special fund of $17,500 with which to accomplish this fire prevention work. Plans for the work have been dispatched from San Bernardino for approval in the district forestry office at San Francisco.

Devil canyon and the mouth of the Santa Ana river are the first districts where new fire lines will be constructed, Mr. Boulevard said. Lookouts will be constructed on Keller Peak, overlooking the Santa Ana river's watershed, and on Black Mountain, south of Banning in the San Jacinto district.

PASADENA—Cyanide fumigation is the latest hope of Pasadena building officials in their quest for an effective counter-measure against the inroads of white ants into the woodwork of buildings in the city, and experiments will be conducted within the next few days with the hope that the remedy will prove entirely adequate. Officials of a Los Angeles cyanide-manufacturing concern are making preparations for the experiments which they declare will prove to local officials the truth of their claim that cyanide fumigation was 100 per cent effective against white ants which recently attacked the public library of San Francisco.

VAN NUYS—The packing of nearly all of the first crop of peaches has been completed at the Van Nuys branch of the Neuhoof canneries. For the next week or 10 days the plant will be engaged in packing tomatoes. The later variety of clingstone peaches will come in about September 1, at which time the cannery expects to be running full capacity again. To date, 35 cars of fruit have been received, and the first shipment of the season, consisting of four cars of peaches for eastern markets, will leave the packing house this week. The main part of the tomato crop is expected to come in soon after September 1. It is stated that the blight, which was prevalent in the valley last year, is not making such inroads on the crop this season, and a heavy yield from all sections is expected.

SAN DIEGO—With the issuing of building permits totaling $56,498 yesterday at the city hall, San Diego's construction total for 1926 has passed the $12,000,000 mark, maintaining an average for seven and one-half months of $1,500,000 a month. The total to date is $12,001,676.

VERNON—The assessed valuation of the city, which is the manufacturing center of Los Angeles county, is given for this year as $33,606,771, an increase of $24,091 over last year.

$100,000 Worth Of U. S. Notes In Bandit Loot

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 20.—W. B. Simpson, secretary of the war veterans' state aid commission, has received word that $100,000 in U. S. treasury certificates, for delivery to the state treasury, were stolen from the Union Pacific train, which was held up and robbed near Rawlins, Wyo., last Saturday. It is believed that the certificates were for $10,000 each, and according to Simpson, they would be negotiable.

CATHOLIC BOYCOTT EFFECT INCREASES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The Catholic boycott in Mexico against enforcement of religious laws is becoming "more effective," especially in the central states of Jalisco, Michoacan and Puebla," Acting Commercial Attache George Wythe, Mexico City, notified the commerce department.

"Many orders in practically all lines of business have been cancelled," the report said.

"Of the important trading centers, Guadalajara appears to be the most largely affected. The majority of automobiles there have been withdrawn from use. Department store sales have dropped as much as 80 per cent."

"Automotive sales in Mexico City have been reduced one-half."

In such states as Sonora and in the industrial cities, such as Tampico and Orizaba, where the labor element is strong, the effect of the boycott is relatively weaker, according to the report.

Business in Torreon is improving, due to the large cotton crop, he said. Shoe factories in Mexico City still are active, although leather orders have been reduced. The two most important industries of the nation, petroleum and mineral production, are unaffected, according to the report.

Deposits in foreign banks have increased, due to decreased merchandise stocks, he said.

Game Warden Shot By His Own Dog

VIENNA, Aug. 20.—Minus one eye and two fingers, an Austrian game warden named Kurzbaue, is now convalescing in the Vienna hospital from the effects of gunshot wounds inflicted by his own dog.

Kurzbaue left his loaded gun leaning on the end of the boat while he jumped out to make the anchor rope fast. While Kurzbaue was busy with the rope the dog made a spring for the shore. One of the dog's feet had been resting on the trigger of the gun and as he jumped he fired the gun. Kurzbaue, who was bending over at the time received part of the charge in his left eye and part in his left hand.

Use Lemons to Whiten Skin

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quart of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.—Adv.
